U.S. Due To Call For Troops From All Of UN

Emergency World Unit Is Sought

Red-Backers Lose On China Question

FLUSHING MEADOW, Sept. 20—U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson will urge the fifth UN general assembly today to safeguard world peace by calling on all member countries to earmark national troop units for emergency combat service abroad.

The top American diplomat, cheered by swift defeat in the assembly last night of motions by India and Russia for the expulsion of Nationalist China and admission of the Peiping Communists, will be the first of the Big Four ministers to take the UN rostrum for policy statements.

It is generally believed that the 59-nation assembly can clear decks for Acheson's speech late today. The assembly was occupied this morning with election of the officers of the six main committees. However, when the "steering committee" sits down to tackle agenda priorities, difficulties may arise which could delay the Acheson speech.

Wielding the gavel for the first time will be the newly elected assembly president, dapper Nasrallah Entezam of Iran. He edged out Zafullah Khan of Pakistan for the office by 32 to 29 votes. The Russians, neighbors to his country, did not vote for Entezam, but cast their bloc of five votes for candidates of their own.

ACHESON is expected to ask the assembly for enactment at this session of a three-point program. This includes: 1. A General Assembly recommendation that member countries set aside contingents from their armed forces and earmark them for emergency service with UN.

2. The creation of an assembly "watch dog" committee authorized to go anywhere and investigate an aggression or threat to the peace.

3. Revise the rules of procedure to enable the assembly to be called on 24 hours notice for dealing with an emergency in which the Security Council has been rendered helpless by use of the veto.

Normally, Entezam's election would have been the assembly's first order of business, but India interrupted the proceedings to present her resolution to admit the Chinese Communists.

Soviet Deputy Andrei Vishinsky immediately pitched into the fight with his own resolution, at-

'Whistler' Seeks To Halt Nuptials In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20—A pretty 18-year-old bride-to-be terrorized for months by a mysterious "whistler" who promised to kill her—will have a special police guard at her wedding if the man is not caught.

The girl, Jacquelyn Cadow, is engaged to marry State Trooper Herbert Belson of New Orleans. She and her family arrived in New Orleans from their home in Paradise, La., to await the marriage under police protection.

Jacquelyn and her mother said "the whistler" first appeared at the Cadow home last February. He whistled tunes and made wolf calls, but disappeared when police were called.

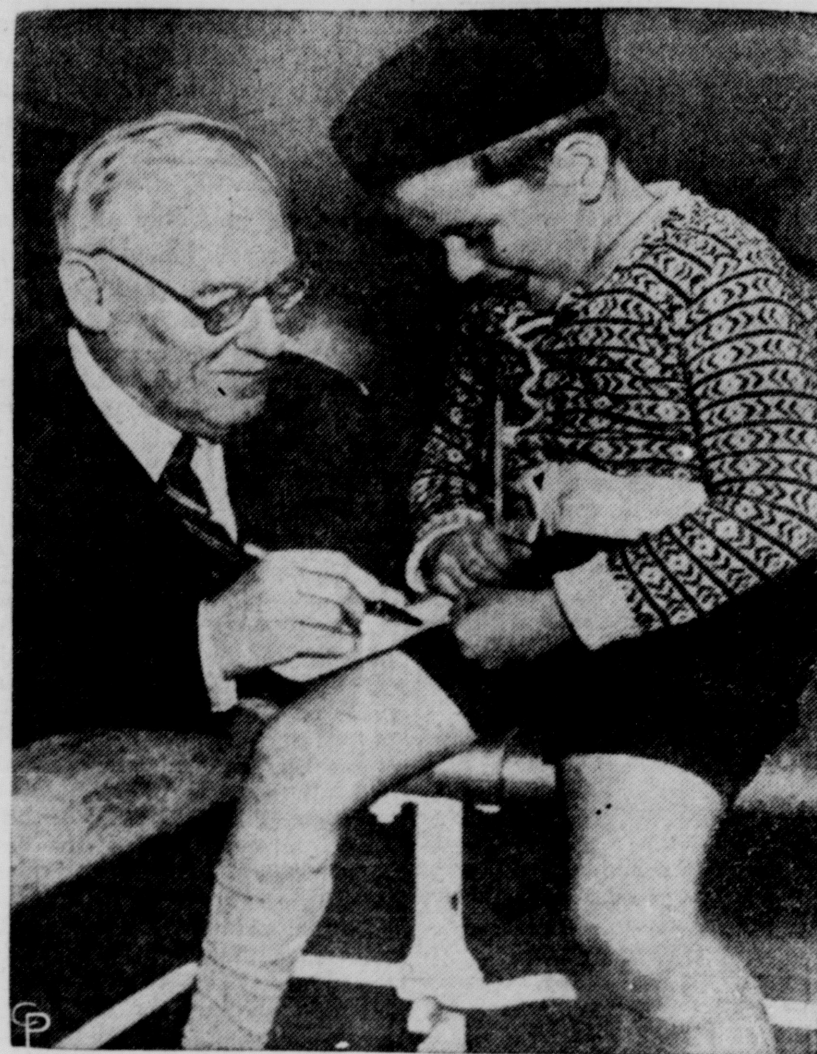

"The whistler" since then made many calls at the home and always eluded police traps. He even broke into the house one night.

When Jacquelyn's engagement to Trooper Belson was announced, he phoned the Cadow's and said:

"Your daughter will never marry Herbert. I'm going to kill

When the Cadows moved to New Orleans, "the whistler" followed them and has made two more musical calls. Lately, Mrs. Cadow says, he has been whistling a funeral march.

The family has no idea who the man can be.

ARRIVING IN NEW YORK for the opening of the fifth United Nations General Assembly at Flushing Meadow, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky agreeably signs his autograph for Richard Frank, 7, of Great Neck, L. I. A few hours later he clashes bitterly at the assembly opening with United States Secretary of State Dean Acheson over admission of Communist China. The Communist lost.

'BUGS' MAY GET INVITATION

Council Tightens Purse Strings On Police Fund

Pondering a request to replenish the special police fund, Circleville city council Tuesday evening allowed just $35 to slip out of the municipal coffers.

The tight purse strings were loosened only long enough to cover an amount overdrawn from the fund.

The solons apparently wanted to make it clear that they think there has been too much spending from the special police fund. Councilman Boyd Horn, however, refused to vote on suspension of rules to permit immediate passage, voted a loud "no" to passage of the bill.

During the discussion preceding passage, Councilman Ray Anderson asked what council intended to do about providing special police for the Pumpkin Show next month.

He was answered by George Crites, who said the matter could be arranged if the Pumpkin Show committee will pay us back. "Otherwise, the city coffers just couldn't stand the drain."

Crites added that unless a one-mill tax levy is passed by voters next month, the city may have to cut down the size of the police force next year.

"THIS IS NOT a funny business to me," said Anderson. He suggested that Safety Director C. O. Leist be instructed to tell Police Chief William (Bugs) McCrady to cut down on expenditures.

Anderson gave a brief recital of expenditures for the police department during the year, including, besides money spent for special police, the purchase of a new cruiser and three wheel motorcycle and the recent increase in the size of the police force. The force was upped from nine to 10 men.

Anderson wound up by calling for more cooperation between the police department and Pickaway County sheriff's office in the assignment of men to patrol local football games.

"How else are you going to let the police see the football games?" murmured Councilman Walden Reichelderfer.

"At the county fair this summer there were more police than visitors," Crites chimed in.

President Pro Tem of Council Ray Cook dragged the discussion back to an even plane with: "We're not acting like intelligent adults on this thing. The idea of this ordinance is to put back into the special police fund the amount that was overdrawn. There has always been a certain amount of prejudice between the police department and council."

"Passage of this ordinance might cause an awakening on the part of someone else who has responsibility."

"There will be one more meeting (Continued on Page Two)

Council Prexy Not Needed

An out-of-town trip kept President of City Council Ben Gordon from attending the early part of Tuesday's council session.

But he was ready to do his bit in the latter stages.

A phone call from Gordon was received about midway in the session. He had just returned.

Did council need him?

Council thought it over, decided to excuse him. The meeting was finished with President Pro Tem Ray Cook at the helm.

Health Commissioner's Salary Is Increased; Solons Wonder About Milk Inspector's Wage

Circleville's city fathers developed a mild case of financial fits Tuesday during consideration of a bill upping the salary of the city health commissioner.

But the nervousness had nothing to do with the commissioner's pay. That bill was passed by affirmative vote of six of the seven solons present. Councilman Boyd Horn wrapped himself in silence and withdrew from the voting. President of Council Ben Gordon was absent.

The ordinance raises the salary of the health commissioner, a position now held by C. O. Leist, from $330 per year to $930.

The increase is to compensate the commissioner for the additional time, duties and expenses connected with enforcement of the city milk code.

The fingering chewing began when Councilman Ray Anderson asked whether another ordinance might be submitted later calling for the city to pay the salary of the milk inspector. The job is now held by Russell T. Blaney of Mingo street.

Was such an ordinance likely to be presented, Anderson wanted to know, or would the agreement made by local dairymen to pay the salary continue to hold?

His colleagues found it an intriguing question, and a disturbing one.

SENATE EXPECTED TO ACT QUICKLY

House OKs Sweeping Bill To Put Thumb On Commies

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—The House today voted approval of strict and sweeping legislation to crack down on U. S. Communists and fellow travelers.

The Communist - control measure worked out in a Senate-House conference was approved by an overwhelming vote of 312 to 20.

The House action sent the anti-subversive legislation to the Senate which may also act today to send it to the White House.

Whether President Truman will accept the legislation or veto it is still a matter of conjecture, but congressional leaders have been informed that he will act promptly on the bill.

Should he veto the bill, Congress plans to stay in session long enough to vote on whether to sustain or override the President.

THE MAJOR features of the legislation were contained in the original bill as passed by the House by a vote of 354 to 20. They would:

1. Require the Communist Party to register with the Justice Department all of its members.

2. Require organizations found to be Communist fronts by a subversive control board to list their officers and their financial backing with the attorney general.

3. Forbid members of the Communist Party or its fronts to hold jobs with the government or in defense industries.

4. Compel the party and front groups to label their literature and radio broadcasts.

5. Withdraw passport privileges from Communists and fellow travelers.

6. Deny income tax deductions for contributions to Communist causes.

In addition, the bill now contains most of the provisions added by the Senate which approved the legislation initially by a vote of 70 to 7.

These include the so-called "concentration camp" amendment enabling the government to seize and intern Communists in the event of invasion, insurrection or war.

OTHER SENATE "omnibus" provisions would:

Make picketing of federal courts a felony.

Permit the exclusion and deportation of aliens who are members of Communist organizations.

Authorize the attorney general to hold in custody un deportable subversive or criminal aliens.

Require applicants for citizenship to be able to read, write and speak English and to take an oath to bear arms if necessary.

Lengthen the statute of limitations for the prosecution for sabotage and espionage from three to 10 years.

Direct any person trained in espionage or sabotage in foreign countries to register with the government.

The maximum penalty for failure to comply with the registration features of the act is 10 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Man Nabbed Near His Picture

CINCINNATI, Sept. 20—A picture, they say, is worth 10,000 words and Edgar Fred Whiteaker probably is speechless.

Whiteaker, 36-year-old so-called "Texas badman" and his wife, Madge, 27, were held in Cincinnati today under $50,000 bonds.

The FBI arrested Whiteaker yesterday as he stood a few feet from his picture which was placed on a "wanted" bulletin board in a Cincinnati postoffice. He had escaped from a Dallas, Tex., jail.

Fuel 'Hoarding' Being Urged

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—Interior Secretary Chapman urged householders today to stock their winter fuel now because of the war effort.

Chapman said consumer fuel supplies are currently adequate. But he warned that later in the year transportation may be tied up by defense shipments and unable to replenish local supplies of fuel to match heavy demands.

Ex-Judge Killed

LONDON, Sept. 20—Clinton D. Boyd, a prominent Middletown Republican and onetime judge, was killed today in an auto-truck accident near here.

Leist reminded them that the dairymen had agreed to pay the inspector's salary until the ordinance was in force.

A murmur of dissent rose over this, the solons contending that no mention of the time element had been included in the agreement, which was verbal.

Councilman E. L. Montgomery said he had pointed that fact out to dairymen who had discussed the matter with him, added the talks had touched on the possibility of assessing milk distributors and producers to pay the inspector's salary.

Leist said an assessment of two cents per hundredweight for distributors and producers had been discussed.

The possibility of such an assessment had been touched on by Montgomery earlier this year when the milk code was being considered for passage by council.

Referring to a possible attempt by dairymen to back out of the verbal agreement, Ray Cook, council president pro tem, said:

"We passed the ordinance at the milk dealers' behest. We can always repeal it."

"We can set the standards higher, too," chuckled Montgomery.

Taking up another facet of the milk problem, Anderson said:

NAMED "File 13," a term used by the Army to indicate something useless, a little orphan of the Korean war rides the shoulders of Corp. Jack Folds, of Gabberville, Ga. Members of the First Cavalry, who found the lad hungry and dirty, have made "File" their mascot.

Senate Expected To Put Ban On 'Slots' Shipping

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—Legislation to ban the interstate shipment of slot machines is slated today for Senate action.

Acting Majority Leader McFarland, (D) Ariz., told newsmen that the slot machine bill would be disposed of despite notification by Sen. Malone, (R) Nev., that he had a "long" speech—perhaps four or five hours—on the subject.

Malone, whose state has legalized gambling, objects to the slot machine transport ban on the ground that a state legislature must take special action to permit machines to come into the state.

He also maintains that under the proposed law, it would be impossible for Nevada slot machine owners to send machines back to Chicago, manufacturing center of the "one-armed bandits," for repairs.

Gambling is also occupying the Senate on another front, with a hearing scheduled for Friday morning by the special crime investigating committee headed by Sen. Kefauver, (D) Tenn.

The committee wants Gambler Harry Russell to tell just how he happened to be taken into the huge S. and G. Syndicate in Miami—and why he failed to respond to a subpoena to appear at an earlier hearing.

The senators are checking reports that muscle, rather than money, was the factor that moved owners of S and G, which reportedly is doing a $26.5 million a year gambling business, to take in Russell.

She Tried Hard To Help Cops

CHICAGO, Sept. 20—Police were certain they could catch the robber who took $65 from a northside Chicago tavern after a night of drinking beer.

His fingerprints, they thought, would be all over his glass.

So they took the glass to the crime detection laboratory and got the discouraging report that there wasn't a print on it.

Back at the tavern they asked an employee, Miss Wanda Haman, 42, if she was sure she gave them the right glass.

"Certainly I gave you the right glass," she said. "And I washed it carefully before I gave it to you."

HE SAID THAT an ordinance sponsored by Councilman Ray Cook last year contained a phrase that "will take care of this situation."

"I don't recollect the ordinance," said Cook. "But my idea is to get all the information possible on a matter of this kind."

In his capacity of president pro tem of council, Cook appointed the health committee to look into the matter.

Seoul Entry Expected In 'Few Hours'

South Koreans Land Along East Coast

TOKYO, Sept. 21—(Thursday)

—Tank-led U. S. Marines were reported by General Douglas MacArthur today to be "at the gates of Seoul" after storming in waves across the Han river.

The Allied commander said Seventh Army division troops south of the Marine lines "are approaching that section of the main north-south highway between Anyang and Seoul."

Anyang is nine miles southwest of Seoul and the infantrymen by gaining positions astride the highway could choke off any enemy drive from the south to relieve the beleaguered Red forces in the capital.

MacArthur's dramatic report was carried in a front dispatch received in Tokyo at 12:20 a. m. Thursday following his second daring tour of Marine lines on the Seoul front.

It came on the heels of a new amphibious offensive launched by South Korean marines at Samchok on Korea's east coast Wednesday.

In his eighth communique as United Nations supreme commander, MacArthur said:

"Our converging columns are now at the gateways of Seoul."

"THE MARINE division moving steadily southeast astride the Han river and on the south bank has reached the outskirts of Yongdungpo. It is advancing against stiffening resistance."

Yongdungpo is an industrial suburb of Seoul.

MacArthur declared: "Enemy casualties continue to be high and the prisoner of war count increases hourly. Our casualties are relatively light."

Earlier, front dispatches had reported the hard-hitting American Marines had smashed

Councilmen Sniff Strong Odors, Order Probe

The health committee of Circleville city council Tuesday was told to nose out the answer to a strong odor said to be permeating the city.

The matter was brought up by Councilman George Crites, who said he had received numerous complaints about the smell.

He claimed the odor, which he termed "unbearable," originated in a "new ammonia process" used by Container Corporation of America.

"The stench from that plant is just about unbearable," he said. "There has always been some odor, but nothing like now. It is especially bad on rainy nights. It is not a necessary circumstance."

"Strawboard made $12 million last year, and I don't think they should dump that stench on us."

Councilman E. L. Montgomery said that some blame for the smell had been placed on the sewage disposal plant, but that it was not guilty.

HE SAID THAT an ordinance sponsored by Councilman Ray Cook last year contained a phrase that "will take care of this situation."

"I don't recollect the ordinance," said Cook. "But my idea is to get all the information possible on a matter of this kind."

In his capacity of president pro tem of council, Cook appointed the health committee to look into the matter.

across the Han to within four miles northwest of Seoul.

A direct assault to free Korea's national capital was expected hourly. North Korean Communist columns were reported moving up under lethal Allied air attacks from the enemy's disintegrating southern front.

Indications were that the nutcracker squeeze of Allied forces would bring the climactic battles of the war in the Seoul sector.

International News Service Far Eastern Director Howard Handelman reported MacArthur jumped to the Han river while Marines were crossing and visited two Marine command posts. He was accompanied by his chief of staff, Maj. Gen. E. M. Almond, commander of the new U. S. Tenth Corps.

Landing of the South Korean marines at Samchok, 40 miles below the 38th Parallel and 125 miles due east of Seoul, under cover of naval bombardment was announced by the Defense Department in Washington.

Size of the South Korean force was not immediately disclosed. The announcement said little opposition was encountered.

The North Korean Communists established one of their first beachheads at Samchok in the opening of their invasion of South Korea.

THE AREA was heavily blasted last Friday by the Battleship Missouri simultaneously with the Inchon landings of U. S. Marines. The town is a hub of two main east coast highways.

On the Pusan perimeter in Southeast Korea, American forces, speeding up their nutcracker drives, wrested control of a ten-mile stretch of the west bank of the Nakdong river.

In swift thrusts they linked up with other American troops at captured Waegwan, 12 miles northwest of Taegu, for a powerful drive up the Seoul road toward Kumchon and Taejon.

Covered by the Korean war's heaviest naval and aerial barges, the American Marines, estimated in the thousands, surged across the broad Han Wednesday morning at Hoengju, eight miles northwest of Seoul.

By early afternoon, the impatient Leathernecks, yelling "Let's Go!" had covered half the distance southeast to Seoul, seizing a key height from which they looked down upon the heart of the capital four miles away.

Swiftly slicing east as well as southeast beyond their newly-won bridgehead on the Han's northeast bank, the Marines slashed a double-tracked railroad and highway leading down to Seoul from the North Korean Communist capital of Pyongyang.

Thus, the way was opened for a siege onslaught to liberate Korea's five-centuries-old capital and wrest from the invaders their greatest prize of the war.

Handelman reported from the Inchon-Seoul front in a dispatch received at 9:53 Wednesday night that the Marines who crossed the Han suffered less than 50 casualties by noon.

This was five hours and 15 minutes after the Leathernecks began crossing the river in amphibious tractors and over an aluminum trestled bridge, mounted on six big rubber pontoons, that carried the Marines' 47-ton tanks across the Han.

MOST OF THE North Korean troops assigned to defend the riverbank in the Hoengju area surrendered to the first waves of Marines who smashed across the wide stream. Others who tried to change from their uniforms into the traditional white clothes of Korean civilians were pointed out by South Korean non-combatants who welcomed the Americans.

Mounting thousands of Red troops were perishing and other thousands were taken prisoner under batterings of Allied land, air and sea forces along both the northern and southern arms of UN nutcracker offensives.

The historic 45,000-ton Battle-

Courts Differ On Penalty For Drunken Drivers

Magistrate Oscar Root and Mayor Thurman I. Miller see eye to eye on the value of a fine to curb drunken driving.

They differ, however, on the curative value of a thought-provoking rest in jail to underline the seriousness of the offense.

Two out-of-town motorists learned about the differences Tuesday.

Alfred Imel of Melvindale, Mich., for instance, learned that a drunken driving count in Magistrate Oscar Root's court brings a $100 fine plus a 10-day rest cure in Pickaway County jail.

He learned that after he was arrested on Route 23 by Deputy Sheriff Walter Richards.

Floyd M. Crawford, 58, of Amanda Route 1, on the other hand, learned that in the court of Mayor Thurman I. Miller the rest cure apparently is considered of small value. He was fined only $100 and costs for drunken driving on North Scioto street.

SAFETY DIRECTOR Leist pointed out that the police department is not permitted to hire a man unless funds are available to pay him. And if no funds are provided, he went on, it would be impossible to hire temporary replacements for regular policemen off due to illness or vacation.

At this point City Solicitor George Gerhardt suggested that a special fund be set up to take care of such contingencies.

Another suggestion came from Crites, who proposed to set aside a given amount for the Montgomery had a word of praise for the way issuing of permits has been handled in Circleville. "Somebody used nice judgment," he said.

Leist, who issues the permits, said he had had opposition from only one store in the city. He said 78 permits have been issued.

Councilman Horn dragged the discussion back to original issue.

"I think the ones it favors most are the ones that should pay the bill," he said. He apparently referred to local dairymen.

He was answered by Cook, who said: "The discussion for the last ten minutes has been on whether the distributors may try to renege on paying the salary of the milk inspector. The ordinance before us is to increase the salary of the health commissioner to pay for the extra work required of him under the milk ordinance."

With that clarification the discussion ended, and voting began. Rules were suspended to permit immediate passage of the bill. The solons added $300 to pay Leist's wage hike for the balance of this year.

Circleville board of education has postponed approval of its proposed $475,000 building bond issue resolution indefinitely.

The education panel explained that the special session was planned because it felt a unanimous vote should be employed to pass the resolution.

However, the special meeting for passage of the resolution was postponed later when Davis told the board he would be unable to attend. The board plans meeting again when all members will be present.

Meat Pricing Lid Urged

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—Connecticut Governor Chester Bowles, former OPA chief, today urged President Truman to halt rising meat prices and apply immediate price-wage controls on 20 or 30 basic items.

Bowles declared after a conference with Mr. Truman that Chicago meat packers are "completely without conscience" and the government should freeze prices on meat to keep it "from running away with us."

The wartime OPA head also urged controls on lumber, building materials, steel, basic metals and petroleum products.

More Tickets Must Be Sold For Grid Train

Only 217 more tickets were left to be sold Wednesday to guarantee a "football special" train to New Boston for Oct. 13.

According to figures tabulated by Circleville Booster Club, a total of 83 of the special tickets have been purchased to date.

A total of 300 advance sales is necessary to charter a train for the Oct. 13 Circleville-New Boston Football game, Thursday is the deadline for ticket sales.

"We have to have at least 300 tickets sold by Thursday night or give up the train idea," Booster President Charles Walters stressed.

Most Booster Clubbers were of the impression Wednesday that local sports fans are waiting until the Thursday deadline to purchase their tickets.

One of the members of the club summed it up: "There'll be 300 people from here at the game anyway. Why not be sociable and go on the train together instead of jamming up the highways by driving down?"

Meat Output Total Shows Good Increase

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—The Production and Marketing Administration says that meat production under federal inspection last week totaled 311 million pounds.

PMA says a further increase in the slaughter of all species brought total production up to last year's total and 19 percent above the 262 million pounds cut up the week before.

Cattle slaughter totaled 288,000 head last week—13 percent more than a week earlier. Beef production was 155 million pounds, compared with 133 million for the preceding week.

Calf slaughter was 116,000 head, compared with 103,000 for a week earlier.

Hog slaughter of 975,000 head was 28 percent above the 762,000 for the preceding week and eight percent more than the 906,000 for the same week a year ago.

After a three-hour debate, which saw the first clash between Acheson and Vishinsky, the assembly finally got to a vote on the Chinese question. In rapid-fire order, the Indian and Russian resolutions were rejected, 33-16. Ten nations did not vote.

Then the assembly adopted a Canadian resolution calling for the appointment of a special committee to decide whether the Mao Tze-tung regime or that of Chiang Kai-shek should be considered the representative of the Chinese people.

THE QUESTION is expected to come up again tomorrow, however, when the credentials committee meets. The committee, appointed by Outgoing President Carlos P. Romulo, foreign secretary of the Philippines, contains three nations who voted in favor of the Indian proposal—India, the Soviet Union and Great Britain. The other members—Belgium, Chile, Mexico, Thailand, Turkey and the United States, all voted against it.

Most delegations, expecting an opening clash over the Chinese question, said they were uncertain when they would speak in the general debate. Some of them, including the United States, planned special delegation meetings to reach final decisions on candidates for various offices.

2 Men Injured As Automobiles Ram In Alley

Two men suffered minor injuries Tuesday in an accident at East Main street and the Eagles' Lodge alley.

Officer Turney Ross said the mishap occurred when an auto driven east on Main street by Harry Ramsey, 28, of 826 Maplewood avenue, rammed into the rear of an auto operated by Gail Goldsberry, 20, of Stoutsville.

Ross said the Goldsberry auto had been stopped in the street in preparation for a left-hand turn into the American Legion alley when the Ramsey car struck it.

Ramsey suffered head and chest lacerations and bruises in the accident while Goldsberry suffered a neck injury.

Noisy Truck Brings Arrest

George W. Morris, 20, of Jackson Route 3, forfeited $15 bond in mayor's court Tuesday when failing to appear on an accusation of operating an unmuffled truck.

Officer Harold Green said he arrested the trucker on North Court street. He said a straight pipe was used on the truck in lieu of a muffler.

Mrs. Marilyn Baker, 402 East Sycamore St., Evansville, Indiana, says HADACOL isn't good—it is absolutely wonderful. She says if she praised HADACOL every minute of the day, it would not be enough. Mrs. Baker's system was deficient in Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin, all of which HADACOL contains.

Here is Mrs. Baker's statement: "I had been sickly for some time, I even at one time had to quit school because I was so weak and skinny. My nerves were so bad and shaky I had headaches all the time. I tried many things to help build up my system but nothing helped. I knew my system needed something, but I just didn't have any appetite. Then my mother started me taking HADACOL. It seemed like my appetite improved with the first dose and now since I have taken HADACOL for over 5 months I have gained 15 lbs. Now my nerves are just fine. I feel wonderful, thanks to HADACOL. I recommend HADACOL to all my friends."

Berger Hospital Guilds "Swinging Into Fall With Plans For New Projects"

Style Show Tops Interest

New hospital projects are being planned by the 27 Berger hospital guilds at their September meetings.

Along with the discussion of hospital projects, ways and means committees are making suggestions and giving reports.

In the limelight now is the style show and luncheon to be held in Pickaway Arms Saturday and sponsored by the recently organized Guild 27. Models will give their first revue at 11:30 a. m. A repeat performance will be held at 1 p. m.

When Guild 27 met in the home of Mrs. George C. Barnes Tuesday night, style show committees announced final arrangements.

Models have been selected including pre-school youngsters, intermediates, pre-teens, teenagers, young matrons and matrons. By way of innovation there will be two boys to model Fall clothing suitable for school.

Miss Genevieve Alley, home demonstration agent for Pickaway County, will be commentator for the style revue.

Pre-school models will be Judy Adkins and David Hill.

Deena Musselman and Buzzy Alkire will model the clothing for the intermediate group.

Elizabeth Musser and Sharon Newman will show the styles for pre-teen youngsters.

Jacqueline Smith will model the teen-age clothes.

Young matrons to model will be Mrs. Roger May and Mrs. Charles Mowery.

Mrs. Lewis Sharpe will serve as model for matron's styles while Mrs. Charles Richards will style maternity clothes.

Guest model will include Miss Patricia Moats, Miss Pumpkin Show of 1949, who is studying to be a professional model.

Jean Dearth, state winner in complete costume 4-H contest, will model her winning costume.

Mary Ann Defenbaugh, will show her formal which was selected for exhibition at the recent Ohio State Fair.

Other guilds have decided on "ways and means" also. When Guild 21 met in the home of Mrs. Dewey Downs Monday, members decided on a luncheon and card party to be held in January.

When Guild 13 meets in the home of Mrs. Orrin Brown Thursday, a white elephant sale is planned as a first money-making project.

Guild 25, the Scioto Valley Grange Guild, which was organized in April, worked through the Summer in order to complete its sheet and pillow-case project for the hospital.

Guild 15, which recently met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grant, announced the completion of its hospital project. This guild furnished two heating lamps. An increase of six members makes a total enrollment of 16.

Guild 12 has scheduled a Fall meeting in the home of Mrs. Harold Strous, Saltcreek Township, for 8 p. m. Thursday.

200 Girl Scouts Here Soon May Be 'Homeless'

Come the first frost and an estimated 200 Circleville girls are going to be "homeless."

Officials of the local Girl Scout organization Wednesday reported that their present headquarters will not be available to them when cold weather comes.

Headquarters now are in St. Philip's Episcopal church parish house. Lack of heating will force the Girl Scouts and Brownies out.

Three local women are heading a search for other quarters. They are Mrs. Mac Noggle, Mrs. Bernard Young and Mrs. Robert Hedges.

They report that the Girl Scout organization will require a room or set of rooms of sufficient size to accommodate an active group meeting. In the Circleville area alone, there are a total of 11 Girl Scout and Brownie units.

Meetings are held each afternoon and evening daily except Sunday.

The Girl Scout organization has its own set of furnishings such as tables, chairs and office files.

Prior to moving to the Episcopal parish house, the Girl Scouts had a room which included kitchen facilities. The youngsters thus were able to receive cooking instructions. However, committewomen said such facilities were not considered a "must."

Offers of space for the girls—who will be forced to abandon their program if no room is found—should be directed to Mrs. Noggle, Mrs. Young or Mrs. Hedges.

New Type Fluoroscope Is Hailed

Better X-Ray Work Now Anticipated

CHICAGO, Sept. 20—A University of Chicago scientist has unveiled an improved fluoroscope hailed as an important weapon in the battle against cancer and revealed that he got the idea for it during a casual luncheon conversation about television several years ago.

Inventor of the fluoroscope is Dr. Robert J. Moon, assistant professor of physics in the U. of C.'s institute on radiobiology and biophysics.

Moon said his fluoroscope produces x-ray images so bright that it will permit for the first time mass examinations for cancer of the stomach and lower intestine.

He said the image produced on his fluoroscope is several hundred times as bright as that in previous machines.

Other scientists noted that Moon has solved a problem which plagued radiologists since Roentgen discovered the x-ray.

HERETOFORE x-rays have been unsatisfactory in detecting cancers deep in the body, especially in areas where there is a good deal of soft tissue, because the image was not bright enough to allow differentiation between the cancerous and normal tissue.

To get a brighter picture, radiologists had to concentrate dangerously large amounts of x-rays on the site.

The method Moon used to construct his fluoroscope employed a finely focused beam of electrons—supplied by a television-type electron gun.

The beam scans a target of tantalum foil. Some of the electrons are transformed by this process into x-rays and about one of every 10,000 of these pass through the foil. A very tiny hole in the foil focuses them on the object to be x-rayed.

When the rays pass through this object, they slam into a four-inch diameter, one-inch thick calcium fluoride crystal. This transforms them again—this time into bursts of ultraviolet rays, tremendously stepping up the strength of the signal.

The signal, finally, is projected to a viewing tube almost exactly like the one used in television sets.

Benevolent Unit Details Work For 3 Months

More than 560 articles were handed out to needy Circleville families during June, July and August by the Circleville Benevolent Association.

According to a quarterly report from Social Worker Florence Renick, a total of 81 families benefitted in the program.

The supplies were donated by a total of 50 persons and included such things as bedding, clothing and magazines.

In addition to its giving program, the association made 36 home calls, interviewed 116 applicants and eight "interest of client" calls.

TV-Radio Programs

Programs listed in the following television log contain errors daily, the fault resting entirely with broadcasters and not with The Herald. Intent of this newspaper is to provide accurate information for subscribers, but finds this impossible so far as the three Columbus television stations are concerned. The programs printed are assembled from information sent out by the Columbus stations and are not to be regarded seriously. Complaints about inaccuracies in program listings should be made to the broadcasting stations and not to The Herald. Because of continuing inaccuracies, The Herald has been forced to delete all TV programs prior to 6 p. m. Radio programs are evening network listings.

Elinor Williams' Teen Tips

"You are what you eat," says an old proverb. And 'tis a fact that the food you eat can help to clear pimply or oily skin, making your complexion, hair and figure more attractive—as well as building good health (you can't have fun without it.)

The trick is to choose between-meal snacks that have the proteins, vitamins and calcium that your body needs—a matter of quality instead of quantity.

Instead of munching potato chips while you read, eat carrot sticks. Sliced thin and crisped in a glass of cold water in the refrigerator, they're good enough to please almost any nibbler.

When you're thirsty—or visiting the corner soda shop with the "crowd" choose fruit drinks. These are good at home, too, and the new frozen concentrates make them easy to prepare.

If you really want to improve your complexion and resolve to steer clear of sweets until it's clear and smooth, try raisins and other fruits, dried or fresh, for energy-supplying snacks.

When the gang comes over for after-swimming eats and canasta, surprise them with cottage cheese and crackers instead of cookies and cake. This cheese combines well with crackers for a good, healthful snack. Ever tried it? Dress it up with bits of green pepper or pickles, if you like. Chop the pickles and mix them with the cheese. This also serves as dessert—and so does fruit.

For free knitting directions for easy-to-make knitted socks, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.

34 Delinquents Named On City Sewer Bill List

Circleville city council Tuesday ordered a list of delinquent customers of the sewage disposal department sent to Pickaway County auditor for collection.

The list contained 34 names owing a total of $243.89 in unpaid sewage bills. Sums owed will be placed on tax duplicates for collection.

Ervin Leist, sewage department manager, told council that many of the names on the list had appeared on a similar list submitted last year.

He pointed out, however, that the total sum owed is less than during the early years of the department when totals ran from $400 to $500.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By SENATOR ROBERT A. TAFT

The Korean War has made it clear to our people that the power of Communist Russia is the most serious threat to the liberty and security of the American people which we have ever faced. It is greater than that of Hitler because of the tremendous development of the capacity of air power and the possession by Russia of the atomic bomb.

Communism has always been a threat to the American people but the present military strength of Russia is largely the result of the foreign policy of the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. Influenced by Communists in the government and the Communist sympathy of men like Henry Wallace and Harry Hopkins, the administration adopted the strange theory that Russia was a "peace-loving democracy." It blindly accepted the promises of Stalin who had never kept a promise.

It accepted his promise that he would set up free governments in Poland and the Balkans, reserving no means to enforce those promises. It conceded his sphere of influence in Eastern Germany, Czechoslovakia and Austria. It withdrew our troops in accordance with our Yalta promises, although we could have captured Berlin and Prague before the Russians arrived.

IT WAS THIS Administration, therefore, which at Yalta and Potsdam placed Russia in a dominating position in Central Europe from which they can successfully threaten the liberty of Western Europe and of the United States.

This sympathy for Communism did not represent the views of many of us, or of the American people. I quote from a broadcast which I myself made in June, 1941, regarding lend-lease to Russia:

"How can anyone swallow the idea that Russia is battling for democratic principles? — To spread the Four Freedoms throughout the world we will ship airplanes and tanks and guns to Communist Russia. But no country was more responsible for the present war and Germany's aggression than Russia itself. Except for the Russian pact with Germany there would have been no invasion of Poland. Russia proved to be as much of an aggressor as Germany. If through our aid Stalin is continued in power, do you suppose that he will spread the Four Freedoms through Finland, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania? Do you suppose that anybody in Russia itself will ever hear of the Four Freedoms after the

Forgotten Claim Is Recalled To City Fathers

An 11-year-old damage claim against Circleville was brought to the attention of city council Tuesday night by City Solicitor George Gerhardt.

The solicitor said he had been contacted by attorneys representing Francis Mauger who filed a claim against the city for an auto accident in 1939.

According to City Service Director John Neuding, a member of council in that year, the accident took place during a storm when Mauger crashed into a barricade on Watt street.

Neuding told council that as near as he could remember Mauger claimed there had been no lights on the barricade to warn motorists. Gerhardt asked that the matter be turned over to the laws and claims committee for study. He said he had no details on the claim.

Samuel Adams did most of his effective work in leading the movement for independence by writing for the press.

City Finance Report Given Council's OK

Fund receipts 4,587.12, expenditures, 3,146.50, balance, 16,252.79; Sewage Disposal Fund, expenditures, 674.21, balance, 2,214.54; Auto St. Repair Fund receipts, 318.93, expenditures, 559.87, balance, 9,854.93. PURSE: ABOUT $60,000

Little Brown Jug Is Top Test For Pacers In U.S.

DELaware, Sept. 20 — The Little Brown Jug, three-year-old pacing classic of light harness racing, held annually over the half mile track here and sponsored by the Little Brown Jug Society, has in the last few years elevated itself to a point of prime importance in sulky circles.

It is no longer considered the counter part of the famed Hambletonian for three-year-old trotters but rather a companion feature of the Goshen race on the yearly calendar of harness highlights.

In four years the Little Brown Jug has developed into one of the richest stakes on the sulky itinerary. This year the total purse, according to Jug officials, will exceed $60,000 for an all-time high in its short but eventful history.

A trip to the winner's circle in the Jug is the goal of all owners of three-year-old hobbler wearers—it is the top laurel wreath in the field and class. It can rightfully be called the Kentucky Derby for juvenile sidewheelers. The race derived its name from a famous pacing champion campaigning at the turn of the century.

IT WAS SELECTED via the contest route, the winner being an Ohio clergyman who felt it fitting and proper to emblematize the Tennessee bred pacer who for years traveled the Ohio circuit.

There is no connection whatever between the Buckeye junior pacing event and the well known football series of Michigan and Minnesota.

This year's Jug, to be raced tomorrow, will be the fifth since the event was introduced in the Fall of 1946 after two scheduled previews.

Post time for the 1950 version of the lucrative contest will find a widely varied opinion on favorites and marks the first time that the eventful day has been reached without an outstanding betting choice on the part of the betting public.

Quilla Hanover, a classy lass owned by Cleo Young, Timmonsville, S. C., will attract wide attention when the search for favorites is launched.

But this filly by Billy Direct-Nervola Hanover will have a hard time luring supporters away from Irish Hal, a fast going youngster in the stable of K. D. Owen, Houston, Texas, sportsman and Dudley Hanover, a Hayes Fair Acre star by Billy Direct-Vivian Hanover.

Along with these top line performers Mighty Sun, a glib going pacer racing under the colors of C and C Ranch, Shafter, Calif., sired by Volomite and out of Margaret Castleton will have his share of supporters.

Chief Long, an Ohio owned side wheeler campaigning under the ownership of O. C. Adelman of Mt. Vernon, could very easily be the first Ohio owned horse to capture Jug honors.

Castleton Farm of Lexington cannot be counted out of a chance at victory with Seattle Hanover, a fleet son of Nibble Hanover-Sorcerer. In fact his chance of returning the Blue Grass farm its second winner in the classic is not to be discounted in the least. Ensign Hanover, winner of the inaugural Jug, was a Castleton prodigy.

A SMALL BUT impressive field of three-year-old trotters go to the post today in the $6,000 Old Oaken Bucket feature of the Grand Circuit.

Lusty Song, Full Force, Mighty Express and Poplar Parry will provide the action in the Bucket feature.

Mighty Fine goes to the post as the favorite in the Delaware Gazette two-year-old trot. Ten of the nation's top juveniles are entered with Mighty Fine.

Solicitor and Tar Heel, the one-two punch of the Reynolds Tobacco Stable, finished one-two in both heats of yesterday's featured BPOE two-year-old pace for a purse of $5,000.

Reined by Del Miller, Solicitor knocked off one fifth of a second from previous best times of the season by baby sidewheelers on a half mile track.

Solicitor rounded the oval with 2:05 2-5 in the first heat and 2:04 2-5 in the second.

Widower Cyrus polished off the 19 Class pace in 2:05 1-5 and 2:05 2-5.

Prince Phillip, State Racing Commission Chairman O. C. Belt's entry, was an easy winner in the Ohio Breeders two-year-old trot.

Ohio Entry Wins Feature

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 20—Thomas B. Scott scored his eighth win of the year last night at Roosevelt Raceway, crossing the wire a nose in front of Make Way in 2:06, as Tokyo Express placed third.

Owned and driven by Tom Carlock of Greenville, Ohio, the four-year-old brown horse took the lead at the start, relinquished it briefly to Tokyo Express, and then was urged home under a strong drive.

American League Pennant Race Tightest Since 1908 Scramble

NEW YORK, Sept. 20—Gather 'round children and you shall hear about the zaniest American League pennant race in 42 years.

In case you are wondering if anything can top last season's pulse raiser that ended on the final day—ease up. This 1950 thing may be the same, but with three teams, no less.

Statistically, the New York Yankees are in first place today, one half game to the good. Boston and Detroit are tied for second.

One has to go way back to 1908 to find an equal. In that year, Detroit, Cleveland and Chicago went down to the last day with the Tigers finally prevailing.

The Yankees blew a 4 to 3 decision last night to the White Sox and Lefty Bob Cain, and it may mean more than just another critical loss to the Bombers. This one could very well cost the flag.

Vic Raschi, their 20-game winner had gone six innings and was ahead, 3 to 2, on the strength of a solo homer by Joe DiMaggio (No. 31) and one with one aboard by Yogi Berra.

THEN RASCHI complained of soreness in his pitching arm. He apparently had aggravated a condition in his elbow sustained in July. The big righthander was replaced by Tom Ferrick, who promptly yielded the game-deciding runs.

Boston's game with Cleveland was rained out and the Tigers took advantage of this and tied the Sox for second by walloping the Philadelphia Athletics, 12 to 4.

Washington stopped St. Louis, 5 to 3, in a night game. Chicago Cub Righthander Frank Hiller had it all over the pennant-bound Philadelphia Phillies. The 30-year-old hurler limited the Whiz Kids to two hits, faced a minimum of 27 men and beat Robin Roberts, 1 to 0.

Hank Sauer's 30th homer in the fifth inning, one of four hits off Roberts, was the clincher.

Boston's Braves managed to keep second place despite Johnny Sain's failure to win his twentieth. The Braves scored two runs in the ninth inning to nose out the hapless St. Louis Cardinals, 8 to 7.

Brooklyn swept the Pirates, 14 to 3 and 3 to 2. Gil Hodges and Duke Snider each hit two homers in the first game as Don Newcombe registered his 18th win. Ralph Kiner poled numbers 44 and 45 in this contest.

Erv Palica won the second game on circuit wallops by Ed Miksis and Tommy Brown in the first inning. Each of Hodges' first game smacks came with two on and he now has 28. Snider's two wallops raised his total to 29. The New York-Cincinnati game was rained out.

Election Officials Cite Rules For Absentee Voters

Ballots Due In Another Ten Days

Rules For GIs Are Outlined

Although ballots will not be ready for about 10 days, Pickaway County board of elections has issued instructions for getting them to absentee and disabled voters.

Death of Ohio Supreme Court Judge Edward C. Turner caused a delay in the certification of ballots by the secretary of state. The time was required for party officials to find candidates to run for the office.

To obtain an absentee ballot the voter must apply for an application blank. No particular form or wording is required. It may be by letter or postcard. But it must be signed.

After this preliminary application has been received by the board of elections, a formal application blank is returned to the voter.

The application for an absent voter's ballot for a person in the armed forces can be filled out for the serviceman by spouse, parent, grandparent, foster parent, brother, sister, step-children, uncle, aunt, nephew or niece.

AFTER THIS application has been filed with the board, the ballot is sent to the serviceman together with an envelope on which a list of questions are printed. The questions must be answered under oath by the soldier in the presence of an authorized commissioned or non-commissioned officer.

Soldier ballots can be returned on election day.

For non-military absentees the applications for ballots must be notarized. The ballots must be returned to the election board clerk by noon of the fourth day before the election. This year the election will be on Nov. 7.

Board officials said that in order to qualify as an absentee the voter must be 10 miles or more away from his voting precinct on election day, and he must have resided in the state one year and in his precinct 40 days.

Deadline for presentation of both absentee and disabled voters applications for ballots is

40 Pickaway Farmers Are Listed As Using Conservation Service

Forty Pickaway County farmers this year asked the U. S. Soil Conservation Service for technical assistance with farm problems.

According to J. A. Muster, local SCS conservationist, 35 farmers have been helped in the development of complete farm conservation plans.

"We believe," said Muster, "that by working with neighbor groups we can make faster progress in the future. Additional groups have been organized at Perry, Pickaway, Jackson and Madison and Scioto Townships and probable groups appear in Walnut Townships."

Over a six-month period, Muster went on, 2,100 Ohio farmers have asked SCS for technical assistance.

HE QUOTED T. C. Kennard, state conservationist, as saying there has been an increase in public interest, which has been reflected in greater demands upon SCS technical assistance. He added:

"Naturally, with field technicians we have available, it is impossible to keep up with the demand. However, we will get to these new district cooperators as rapidly as possible."

Kennard's report showed the farmers who applied for technical assistance during the first half of the year operate 282,000 acres of land.

They bring the total of Ohio farmers who have asked for SCS technical aid since the soil conservation program began up to 22,100. These district cooperators operate 3,152,000 acres.

During the first half of the year SCS technicians were able to help 1,650 farmers complete farm conservation plans which fell 450 short of the new applications coming in during the same period.

Max Spangler Named District FFA Chieftain

Max Spangler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Spangler of near Ashville, has been elected district president of Future Farmers of America. The election was part of the officers training meeting held at Canal Winchester school recently.

Each Fall, District Nine FFA officers are elected. District Nine includes 29 FFA chapters, located in Fairfield, Licking, Perry, Franklin, Madison and Pickaway Counties. The group numbers approximately 700 FFA boys.

Max is also president of his local chapter and vice-president of his junior class.

Future Farmers carrying farming programs made up of livestock and crop projects will give them a start in farming.

Max is busy in this area also. His farming program as a junior will be a registered Chester White sow and two litters, a registered beef heifer, 20 acres of hybrid corn and 10 acres of certified wheat.

Max and his brother, Marvin, are planning to rent corn ground on a neighboring farm.

Max hopes to attain the degree of "State Farmer" next year. Only two Future Farmers out of every 100 can get this degree.

Train Whistles Draw Attention Of Councilmen

Circleville city council may do something about trains whistling through the city.

At least, the solons are going to find out what effect passage of ordinance forbidding the noise has had in another town.

The matter was brought up by Councilman Ray Anderson, who said he had been informed that several cities have passed laws forbidding trains to whistle within the corporation limits. Warnings at crossings are provided by wigwag signals.

He said Grandview was one of the cities where such a law is in effect.

City Solicitor George Gerhardt was instructed to write to the Grandview clerk of city council to find out how effective the law has been and to obtain a copy of the ordinance.

6:30 p. m. of the fifth day before the election.

For all voters the board of elections pointed out that there is no registration in Pickaway County. All that is required is that the voter present himself at the polls on election day.

4-Way Stop Street Test Is Ordered

Circleville city fathers think they may have a relatively inexpensive solution to the problem of controlling traffic at intersections.

The solution grew out of a request by Councilman Walden Reichelderfer for a traffic light at the intersection of Scioto and Mill streets.

In the discussion that followed

it developed that council thinks:

1. The city has too many traffic lights already.

2. More traffic lights would cost the city too much—$250 each plus another $250 to install another control panel for synchronization.

The solution was provided by City Solicitor George Gerhardt who suggested that stop signs be erected at each corner of the intersection so that all traffic would have to stop, look and listen before entering.

Council waxed enthusiastic over the idea, instructed Gerhardt to draw up an ordinance for installation of the stop signs at Scioto and Mill streets.

"If it works there," said Reichelderfer, "we can get some for other intersections."

U.S. Due To Call For Troops From All Of UN

'Emergency World Unit' Is Sought

Red-Backers Lose On China Question

FLUSHING MEADOW, Sept. 20—U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson will urge the fifth UN general assembly today to safeguard world peace by calling on all member countries to earmark national troop units for emergency combat service abroad.

The top American diplomat, cheered by swift defeat in the assembly last night of motions by India and Russia for the expulsion of Nationalist China and admission of the Peiping Communists, will be the first of the Big Four ministers to take the UN rostrum for policy statements.

It is generally believed that the 59-nation assembly can clear decks for Acheson's speech late today. The assembly was occupied this morning with election of the officers of the six main committees. However, when the "steering committee" sits down to tackle agenda priorities, difficulties may arise which could delay the Acheson speech.

Wielding the gavel for the first time will be the newly elected assembly president, dapper Nasrullah Entezam of Iran. He edged out Zafarullah Khan of Pakistan for the office by 32 to 29 votes. The Russians, neighbors to his country, did not vote for Entezam, but cast their bloc of five votes for candidates of their own.

ACHESON is expected to ask the assembly for enactment at this session of a three-point program. This includes:

1. A General Assembly recommendation that member countries set aside contingents from their armed forces and earmark them for emergency service with UN.

2. The creation of an assembly "watch dog" committee authorized to go anywhere and investigate an aggression or threat to the peace.

3. Revise the rules of procedure to enable the assembly to be called on 24 hours notice for dealing with an emergency in which the Security Council has been rendered helpless by use of the veto.

Normally, Entezam's election would have been the assembly's first order of business, but India interrupted the proceedings to present her resolution to admit the Chinese Communists.

'Whistler' Seeks To Halt Nuptials In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20—A pretty 18-year-old bride-to-be terrorized for months by a mysterious "whistler" who promised to kill her—will have a special police guard at her wedding if the man is not caught.

The girl, Jacquelyn Cadow, is engaged to marry State Trooper Herbert Belson of New Orleans. She and her family arrived in New Orleans from their home in Paradise, La., to await the marriage under police protection.

Jacquelyn and her mother said "the whistler" first appeared at the Cadow home last February. He whistled tunes and made wolf calls, but disappeared when police were called.

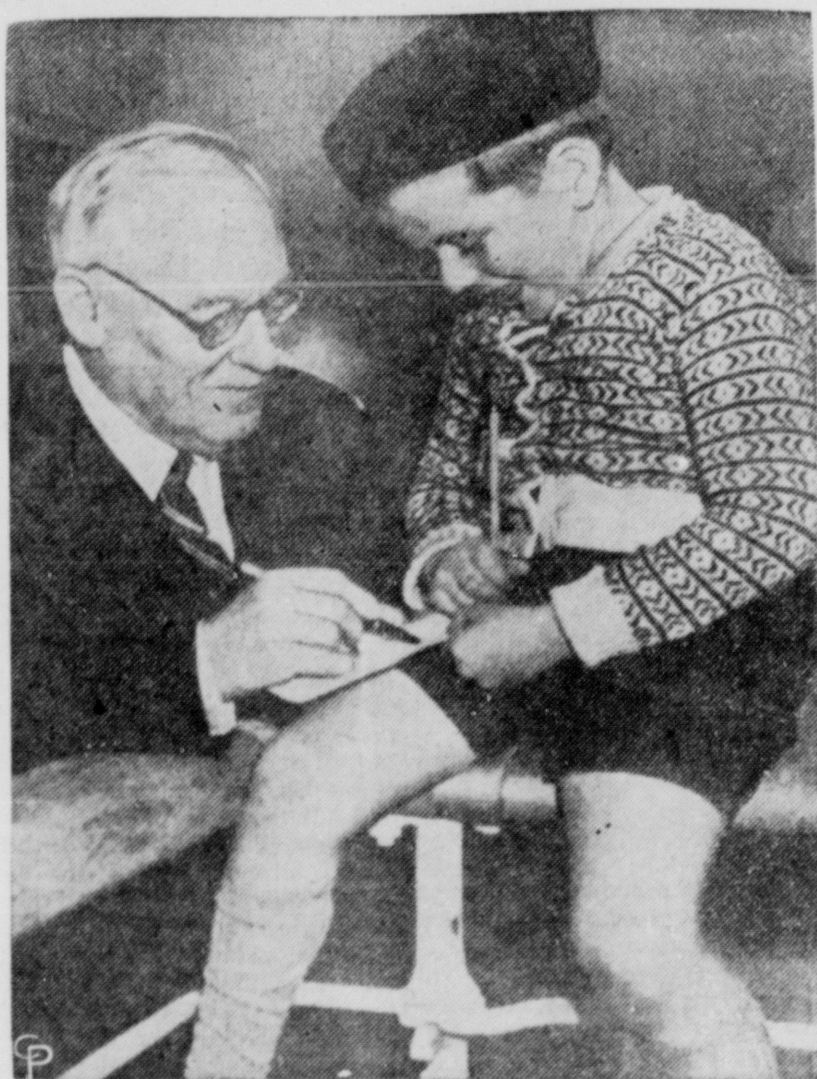

"The whistler" since then made many calls at the home and always eluded police traps. He even broke into the house one night.

When Jacquelyn's engagement to Trooper Belson was announced, he phoned the Cadows and said:

"Your daughter will never marry Herbert. I'm going to kill him."

When the Cadows moved to New Orleans, "the whistler" followed them and has made two more musical calls. Lately, Mrs. Cadow says, he has been whistling a funeral march.

The family has no idea who the man can be.

ARRIVING IN NEW YORK for the opening of the fifth United Nations General Assembly at Flushing Meadow, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky agreeably signs his autograph for Richard Frank, 7, of Great Neck, L. I. A few hours later he clashes bitterly at the assembly opening with United States Secretary of State Dean Acheson over admission of Communist China. The Communist lost.

'BUGS' MAY GET INVITATION

Council Tightens Purse Strings On Police Fund

Pondering a request to replenish the special police fund, Circleville city council Tuesday evening allowed just $35 to slip out of the municipal coffers.

The tight purse strings were loosened only long enough to cover an amount overdrawn from the fund.

The solons apparently wanted to make it clear that they think there has been too much spending from the special police fund. Councilman Boyd Horn, however, refused to vote on suspension of rules to permit immediate passage, voted a loud "no" to passage of the bill.

During the discussion preceding passage, Councilman Ray Anderson asked what council intended to do about providing special police for the Pumpkin Show next month.

He was answered by George Crites, who said the matter could be arranged "if the Pumpkin Show committee will pay us back." Otherwise, the city coffers just couldn't stand the drain.

Crites added that unless a one-mill tax levy is passed by voters next month, the city may have to cut down the size of the police force next year.

"THIS IS NOT a funny business to me," said Anderson. He suggested that Safety Director C. O. Leist be instructed to tell Police Chief William (Bugs) McCrady to cut down on expenditures.

Anderson gave a brief recital of expenditures for the police department during the year, including, besides money spent for special police, the purchase of a new cruiser and three wheel motorcycle and the recent increase in the size of the police force.

Circleville's city fathers developed a mild case of financial jitters Tuesday during consideration of a bill upping the salary of the city health commissioner.

But the nervousness had nothing to do with the commissioner's pay. That bill was passed by affirmative vote of six of the seven solons present. Councilman Boyd Horn wrapped himself in silence and withdrew from the voting. President of Council Ben Gordon was absent.

The ordinance raises the salary of the health commissioner, a position now held by C. O. Leist, from $330 per year to $930.

The increase is to compensate the commissioner for the additional time, duties and expenses connected with enforcement of the city milk code.

The fingernail chewing began when Councilman Ray Anderson asked whether another ordinance might be submitted later calling for the city to pay the salary of the milk inspector. The job is now held by Russell T. Blaney of Mingo street.

Was such an ordinance likely to be presented, Anderson wanted to know, or would the agreement made by local dairymen to pay the salary continue to hold?

His colleagues found it an intriguing question, and a disturbing one.

crease in the size of the police force. The force was upped from nine to 10 men.

Anderson wound up by calling for more cooperation between the police department and Pickaway County sheriff's office in the assignment of men to patrol local football games.

"How else are you going to let the police see the football games?" murmured Councilman Walden Reichelderfer.

"At the county fair this Summer there were more police than visitors," Crites chimed in. President Pro Tem of Council Ray Cook dragged the discussion back to an even plane with:

"We're not acting like intelligent adults on this thing. The idea of this ordinance is to put back into the special police fund the amount that was overdrawn. There has always been a certain amount of prejudice between the police department and council."

"Passage of this ordinance might cause an awakening on the part of someone else who has responsibility."

"There will be one more meeting," (Continued on Page Two)

Council Prexy Not Needed

An out-of-town trip kept President of City Council Ben Gordon from attending the early part of Tuesday's council session.

But he was ready to do his bit in the latter stages.

A phone call from Gordon was received about midway in the session. He had just returned. Did council need him?

Council thought it over, decided to excuse him. The meeting was finished with President Pro Tem Ray Cook at the helm.

SENATE EXPECTED TO ACT QUICKLY

House OKs Sweeping Bill To Put Thumb On Commies

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—The House today voted approval of strict and sweeping legislation to crack down on U. S. Communists and fellow travelers.

The Communist - control measure worked out in a Senate-House conference was approved by an overwhelming vote of 312 to 20.

The House action sent the anti-subversive legislation to the Senate which may also act today to send it to the White House.

Whether President Truman will accept the legislation or veto it is still a matter of conjecture, but congressional leaders have been informed that he will act promptly on the bill.

Should he veto the bill, Congress plans to stay in session long enough to vote on whether to sustain or override the President.

THE MAJOR features of the legislation were contained in the original bill as passed by the House by a vote of 354 to 20. They would:

1. Require the Communist Party to register with the Justice Department all of its members.

2. Require organizations found to be Communist fronts by a subversive control board to list their officers and their financial backing with the attorney general.

3. Forbid members of the Communist Party or its fronts to hold jobs with the government or in defense industries.

4. Compel the party and front groups to label their literature and radio broadcasts.

5. Withdraw passport privileges from Communists and fellow travelers.

6. Deny income tax deductions for contributions to Communist causes.

In addition, the bill now contains most of the provisions added by the Senate which approved the legislation initially by a vote of 70 to 7.

These include the so-called "concentration camp" amendment enabling the government to seize and intern Communists in the event of invasion, insurrection or war.

OTHER SENATE "omnibus" provisions would:

Make picketing of federal courts a felony.

Permit the exclusion and deportation of aliens who are members of Communist organizations.

Authorize the attorney general to hold in custody unrepentant subversive or criminal aliens.

Require applicants for citizenship to be able to read, write and speak English and to take an oath to bear arms if necessary.

Lengthen the statute of limitations for the prosecution for sabotage and espionage from three to 10 years.

Direct any person trained in espionage or sabotage in foreign countries to register with the government.

The maximum penalty for failure to comply with the registration features of the act is 10 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Man Nabbed Near His Picture

CINCINNATI, Sept. 20—A picture, they say, is worth 10,000 words and Edgar Fred Whiteaker probably is speechless.

Whiteaker, 36-year-old so-called "Texas badman" and his wife, Madge, 27, were held in Cincinnati today under $50,000 bonds.

The FBI arrested Whiteaker yesterday as he stood a few feet from his picture which was placed on a "wanted" bulletin board in a Cincinnati postoffice. He had escaped from a Dallas, Tex., jail.

He also maintains that under the proposed law, it would be impossible for Nevada slot machine owners to send machines back to Chicago, manufacturing center of the "one-armed bandits," for repairs.

Gambling is also occupying the Senate on another front, with a hearing scheduled for Friday morning by the special crime investigating committee headed by Sen. Kefauver, (D) Tenn.

The committee wants Gambler Harry Russell to tell just how he happened to be taken into the huge S. and G. Syndicate in Miami—and why he failed to respond to a subpoena to appear at an earlier hearing.

The senators are checking reports that muscle, rather than money, was the factor that moved owners of S and G, which reportedly is doing a $26.5 million a year gambling business, to take in Russell.

She Tried Hard To Help Cops

CHICAGO, Sept. 20—Police were certain they could catch the robber who took $65 from a northside Chicago tavern after a night of drinking beer.

His fingerprints, they thought, would be all over his glass.

So they took the glass to the crime detection laboratory and got the discouraging report that there wasn't a print on it.

Back at the tavern they asked an employe, Miss Wanda Haman, 42, if she was sure she gave them the right glass.

"Certainly I gave you the right glass," she said. "And I washed it carefully before I gave it to you."

Senate Expected To Put Ban On 'Slots' Shipping

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—Legislation to ban the interstate shipment of slot machines is slated today for Senate action.

Acting Majority Leader McFarland, (D) Ariz., told newsmen that the slot machine bill would be disposed of despite notification by Sen. Malone, (R) Nev., that he had a "long" speech—perhaps four or five hours—on the subject.

Malone, whose state has legalized gambling, objects to the slot machine transport ban on the ground that a state legislature must take special action to permit machines to come into the state.

He also maintains that under the proposed law, it would be impossible for Nevada slot machine owners to send machines back to Chicago, manufacturing center of the "one-armed bandits," for repairs.

Gambling is also occupying the Senate on another front, with a hearing scheduled for Friday morning by the special crime investigating committee headed by Sen. Kefauver, (D) Tenn.

Seoul Entry Expected In 'Few Hours'

South Koreans Land Along East Coast

TOKYO, Sept. 21—(Thursday)—Tank-led U. S. Marines were reported by General Douglas MacArthur today to be "at the gates of Seoul" after storming in waves across the Han river.

The Allied commander said Seventh Army division troops south of the Marine lines "are approaching that section of the main north-south highway between Anyang and Seoul."

Anyang is nine miles southwest of Seoul and the infantrymen by gaining positions astride the highway could choke off any enemy drive from the south to relieve the beleaguered Red forces in the capital.

MacArthur's dramatic report was carried in a front dispatch received in Tokyo at 12:20 a. m. Thursday following his second daring

Seoul Entry Expected In 'Few Hours'

A direct assault to free Korea's national capital was expected hourly. North Korean Communist columns were reported moving up under lethal Allied air attacks from the enemy's disintegrating southern front.

Indications were that the nutcracker squeeze of Allied forces would bring the climactic battles of the war in the Seoul sector.

International News Service Far Eastern Director Howard Handelman reported MacArthur jumped to the Han river while Marines were crossing and visited two Marine command posts. He was accompanied by his chief of staff, Maj. Gen. E. M. Almond, commander of the new U. S. Tenth Corps.

Landing of the South Korean marines at Samchok, 40 miles below the 38th Parallel and 125 miles due east of Seoul, under cover of naval bombardment was announced by the Defense Department in Washington.

Size of the South Korean force was not immediately disclosed. The announcement said little opposition was encountered.

The North Korean Communists established one of their first beachheads at Samchok in the opening of their invasion of South Korea.

THE AREA was heavily blasted last Friday by the Battleship Missouri simultaneously with the Inchon landings of U. S. Marines. The town is a hub of two main east coast highways.

On the Pusan perimeter in Southeast Korea, American forces, speeding up their nutcracker drives, wrested control of a ten-mile stretch of the west bank of the Nakdong river. In swift thrusts they linked up with other American troops at captured Waegwan, 12 miles northwest of Taegu, for a powerful drive up the Seoul road toward Kumchon and Taejon.

Covered by the Korean war's heaviest naval and aerial barrages, the American Marines, estimated in the thousands, surged across the broad Han Wednesday morning at Hoengju, eight miles northwest of Seoul.

By early afternoon, the impatient Leathernecks, yelling "Let's Go!", had covered half the distance southeast to Seoul, seizing a key height from which they looked down upon the heart of the capital four miles away.

Swiftly slicing east as well as southeast beyond their newly-won bridgehead on the Han's northeast bank, the Marines slashed a double-tracked railroad and highway leading down to Seoul from the north Korean Communist capital of Pyongyang.

Thus, the way was opened for a siege onslaught to liberate Korea's five-centuries-old capital and wrest from the invaders their greatest prize of the war. Handelman reported from the Inchon-Seoul front in a dispatch received at 9:53 Wednesday night that the Marines who crossed the Han suffered less than 50 casualties by noon.

This was five hours and 15 minutes after the Leathernecks began crossing the river in amphibious tractors and over an aluminum trestled bridge, mounted on six big rubber pontoons, that carried the Marines' 47-ton tanks across the Han.

MOST OF THE North Korean troops assigned to defend the riverbank in the Hoengju area surrendered to the first waves of Marines who smashed across the wide stream. Others who tried to change from their uniforms into the traditional white clothes of Korean civilians were pointed out by South Korean non-combatants who welcomed the Americans.

Mounting thousands of Red troops were perishing and other thousands were taken prisoner under batterings of Allied land, air and sea forces along both the northern and southern arms of UN nutcracker offensives.

Council Tightens Purse Strings On Police Fund

Cook continued, "I know council will do the right thing if the other side will put down on paper what they intend to do with what they get."

SAFETY DIRECTOR Leist pointed out that the police department is not permitted to hire a man unless funds are available to pay him. And if no funds are provided, he went on, it would be impossible to hire temporary replacements for regular policemen off due to illness or vacation.

At this point City Solicitor George Gerhardt suggested that a special fund be set up to take care of such contingencies.

Another suggestion came from Crites, who proposed to set aside a given amount for the Councilman Horn dragged the discussion back to original issue.

"I think the ones it favors most are the ones that should pay the bill," he said. He apparently referred to local dairymen.

He was answered by Cook, who said:

"The discussion for the last ten minutes has been on whether the distributors may try to renege on paying the salary of the milk inspector. The ordinance before us is to increase the salary of the health commissioner to pay for the extra work required of him under the milk ordinance."

With that clarification the discussion ended, and voting began. Rules were suspended to permit immediate passage of the bill. The solons added $300 to pay Leist's wage hike for the balance of this year.

Meat Pricing Lid Urged

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—Connecticut Governor Chester Bowles, former OPA chief, today urged President Truman to halt rising meat prices and apply immediate price-wage controls on 20 or 30 basic items.

Bowles declared after a conference with Mr. Truman that Chicago meat packers are "completely without conscience" and the government should freeze prices on meat to keep it "from running away with us."

The wartime OPA head also urged controls on lumber, building materials, steel, basic metals and petroleum products.

More Tickets Must Be Sold For Grid Train

Only 217 more tickets were left to be sold Wednesday to guarantee a "football special" train to New Boston for Oct. 13.

According to figures tabulated by Circleville Booster Club, a total of 83 of the special tickets have been purchased to date.

A total of 300 advance sales is necessary to charter a train for the Oct. 13 Circleville-New Boston Football game, Thursday is the deadline for ticket sales.

"We have to have at least 300 tickets sold by Thursday night or give up the train idea," Booster President Charles Walters stressed.

Most Booster Clubbers were of the impression Wednesday that local sports fans are waiting until the Thursday deadline to purchase their tickets.

One of the members of the club summed it up:

"There'll be 300 people from here at the game anyway. Why not be sociable and go on the train together instead of jamming up the highways by driving down?"

THE SPECIAL tickets will be on sale in five Circleville offices until closing time Thursday. They may be obtained at Boyd's, Griffith's, Hamilton's, in the office of Dr. David Goldschmidt and in Laughlin's printery. If local sports followers back up the program to near the total needed, some Booster spokesmen pointed out there is a possibility that the Circleville high school band may be added to the program to guarantee the chartered train trip.

Cattle slaughter totaled 288,000 head last week—13 percent more than a week earlier. Beef production was 155 million pounds, compared with 133 million for the preceding week.

Calf slaughter was 116,000 head, compared with 103,000 for a week earlier.

Hog slaughter of 975,000 head was 28 percent above the 762,000 for the preceding week and eight percent more than the 906,000 for the same week a year ago.

Sheep and lamb slaughter was 254,000 head last week, compared with 227,000 head a week earlier and 299,000 head a year ago.

tacking the Nationalists as the "Kuomintang clique," and demanding that they be removed.

After a three-hour debate, which saw the first clash between Acheson and Vishinsky, the assembly finally got to a vote on the Chinese question. In rapid-fire order, the Indian and Russian resolutions were rejected, 33-16. Ten nations did not vote.

Then the assembly adopted a Canadian resolution calling for the appointment of a special committee to decide whether the Mao Tze-tung regime or that of Chiang Kai-shek should be considered the representative of the Chinese people.

THE QUESTION is expected to come up again tomorrow, however, when the credentials committee meets. The committee, appointed by Outgoing President Carlos P. Romulo, foreign secretary of the Philippines, contains three nations who voted in favor of the Indian proposal—India, the Soviet Union and Great Britain. The other members—Belgium, Chile, Mexico, Thailand, Turkey and the United States, all voted against it.

Most delegations, expecting an opening clash over the Chinese question, said they were uncertain when they would speak in the general debate. Some of them, including the United States, planned special delegation meetings to reach final decisions on candidates for various offices.

2 Men Injured As Automobiles Ram In Alley

Two men suffered minor injuries Tuesday in an accident at East Main street and the Eagles' Lodge alley.

Officer Turney Ross said the mishap occurred when an auto driven east on Main street by Harry Ramsey, 28, of 828 Maplewood avenue, rammed into the rear of an auto operated by Gail Goldsberry, 20, of Stoutsville.

Ross said the Goldsberry auto had been stopped in the street in preparation for a left-hand turn into the American Legion alley when the Ramsey car struck it.

Ramsey suffered head and chest lacerations and bruises in the accident while Goldsberry suffered a neck injury.

HOW MAD ARE THEY?

CONGRESS has the fidgets in Washington, members being extremely anxious to get home for the campaign. They want to check up on stories about public sentiment drifting in from back home.

Earlier the Republicans had presumed they had no chance to take over the Senate this year. Now they are hopeful. They hear that Democratic Senators Hayden of Arizona, McCarran of Nevada, Tydings of Maryland, Thomas of Utah, Lucas of Illinois and Myers of Pennsylvania are all in danger of being defeated as voters blame the Democratic administration for reverses in Korea.

If it works out like that, it will be the first break the Republicans have had since the twenties. Previously the party had several during its 96 years. The Democratic split over slavery brought the party to long power in 1860. Democratic acceptance of free silver rescued the Republicans from trouble and they came back in 1896 for a long tenure. The country wasn't ready to surrender isolation under Woodrow Wilson and the Republicans regained office in 1920.

Republicans got their come-uppance because of the great depression starting in 1929. It has been worth millions of votes each presidential year to the Democrats, rescuing Harry Truman in 1948 from a seemingly hopeless situation. Whether Korea as a symbol has potentialities of a great political break is now a subject of extreme interest in both parties.

"NOW PITCHING FOR—"

THE trouble is they bring the darn thing, tension and all, right into the living room. In club, bar or at the neighbor's there is no escape.

You can see for yourself on the magic lantern that the Yankees have to beat the umpires as well as the Red Sox, on account Rizzuto was safe at second from here to there. Or you can tell from the announcer's anguished screams that the third strike Hodges took was no closer to the outside corner than the White Sox are to first place. Scarcely a housewife in the land but doesn't know when Konstanty is "Now pitching for Philadelphia—"

In the brief interval between cigaret puffs and beer plugs, you can see or hear just how its going with the Phillies, the Yankees, Detroit and the Dodgers and that's precisely what's wrong with the country today.

For the hard truth is that these pennant races are now down to a question of which blows first, the Tigers or the Phillies or the family nerves. Not in years, anyway not since 1949, has the American League seen anything like it.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

A few things need to be said about hoarding, controls and profiteering. When the public raided the grocers for sugar, they were responding to their experiences of both World War I and World War II when sugar became exceedingly scarce. Much of that scarcity was due to lack of shipping and to the profiteering of the Cubans, who took advantage of an unfortunate situation. There is no shortage of shipping and there is plenty of sugar in the world at this moment.

It is normal for a family to stock up, even in a land of automobiles and chain store groceries. There is even such an instrument as a deep freezer which is being sold as a device for keeping the larder full. It used to be that every household did that against the winter.

Senator George W. Malone of Nevada has a way of putting these things very sharply. He said:

"The tirade against provident American housewives for hoarding a few extra pounds of sugar, or something else which is not scarce, comes with ill grace from an administration which is the prize hoarder of all time—192 million pounds of butter, and buying up more at the rate of nine million pounds a week; 170 million pounds of dried eggs, and buying up more at the rate of 15 million pounds a month; 104 million pounds of cheese, and buying up more at the rate of 15 million pounds a month. The government has hoarded $50 million worth of dried milk, is buying up potatoes at a rate that will cost the American taxpayers $87 million this year alone — and that is only the beginning of the list. The government is hoarding all kinds of food-stuff in caves and bulging warehouses and old airplane hangars from Maine to California."

The government does not hoard against bad times. It hoards to keep prices high. Joseph, the son of Jacob, one of the founders of my kind, invented the ever-normal granary. It was the result of a dream in which lean cows consumed fat ones. To Joseph, an astute psychologist and politician, that meant that after seven years of plenty, there would be seven years of famine, and during the famine everything would be consumed that was saved during the plenty.

Of course, to turn the trick at all, there had to be savings. So Joseph set up a system of filling the granaries and silos and warehouses. In the end, the Egyptians had to buy back their own wheat at steeper prices, and the government owned everything—their jewels, their furnishings, everything.

Now our system is not due to scarcity but to plenty. We have so much that we fear the consequences of plenty. There is no fear of famine; the fear is that prices will go down sufficiently to encourage farmers to vote against the party in power.

We could have shipped this plethora, or part of it, to people who lack nourishing foods, but then we might upset them by raising their standards of living too rapidly. That, our wise men regard as too dangerous, although those of us who are not so wise wonder why. It seems so indecent to let butter turn rancid when so many could use it. There was a time when Americans would not have stowed food in caves when children were with insufficient food. The children's fund of the United Nations goes begging while we hoard eggs.

Find Out Cause of Dizziness

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

VERTIGO is more than simple dizziness. The person who suffers from such attacks has a sensation of spinning round and round and may, at the same time, lose his sense of balance. Fortunately, attacks of vertigo are of short duration, though they may be accompanied by ringing in the ears and deafness.

Vertigo has many causes, some of them trivial and of a temporary nature, some of great seriousness. Among the latter are disorders involving that part of the brain known as the brain-stem. In these instances, the vertigo does not occur alone. There are other symptoms, too, such as double-vision, numbness of the face, and the inability to walk properly.

Lining Membrane

Tumors in the back part of the brain or cerebellum may be accompanied by vertigo. Syphilitic infection of the lining membrane over the brain has vertigo as one of its symptoms. When unconsciousness follows vertigo, epilepsy must always be thought of.

Vertigo is also due to disturbances affecting the inner ear, particularly the structure known as the semi-circular canals which have to do with a sense of balance. There may be inflammation of these canals, injuries to them, or tumors which cause pressure on them. There is a condition called toxic labyrinthitis, which often develops as a result of a throat infection. Toxins or poisons from the throat are carried by the blood, it is thought, to the inner ear, producing some disturbance of the inner ear causing vertigo or dizziness. Disturbances of the circulation to the inner ear may cause vertigo. Perhaps the most common form of vertigo is that connected with seasickness or air-sickness, which is associated with sickness at the stomach, vomiting, perspiration, pallor, and diarrhea.

Blood Pressure

Vertigo may develop in high blood pressure, in leukemia, and in poisoning by certain drugs. These include, particularly, quinine, cinchophen, the salicylates, and the antibiotic drug known as streptomycin.

Patients who suffer from attacks of vertigo need a thorough study. Often the service of an ear specialist may be required before the source of the difficulty can be determined.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. L. T.: What causes nightmares?

Answer: There are many causes of nightmares. Usually they are due to restless sleep and nervousness. There may also be local causes, such as indigestion or a sore throat. A late and heavy meal is also a well-recognized cause of nightmares.

Kiernan's ONE MAN'S OPINION

When MacArthur moved in his furniture, the North Koreans captured Moscow: "Thought you said he'd only stay overnight!"

They were fooled when the general made an earlier quick trip in and out. They didn't know he had just come over to measure the living room and count the windows for curtains.

But when he loads his pipe rack and tobacco on a plane we know he's about to open a branch office dealing in wholesale and retail victory.

Of course this thing is far from over. The President got off his yacht the other day and said we've all got to tighten our belts.

That's easy enough to say after you've had pork chops for lunch followed by a rough afternoon on the water.

But with those new credit regulations you've got to get up almost as much cash for a down payment on a $2,000 automobile as on a $10,000 house.

Perry Kimbro, R.M.

Copyright, 1950, by Arcadia House—Distributed by King Features Syndicate

SYNOPSIS
Pleading from the bitter-sweet past of a lost love, Perry Kimbro, R.M., journeys to a remote mountain village where she will nurse wealthy invalid Philip Ellender, married to a coy, exotic young beauty named Sanna, whom he totally distrusts. Here Perry meets Doctor McKenzie, in charge of the case, and despite his austerity, feels the spell of his charm. It is all too obvious that Sanna likewise is lured by the doctor's magic, and Perry wonders if herein lies a sinister love affair. Shocked on learning that her patient believes he is being slowly poisoned, Perry agrees to prepare all of his food herself. Everyone knows that Sanna, indirectly, perhaps, has caused her husband's slipping accident.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

PUZZLED, startled at Dr. McKenzie's assertion that Sanna felt responsible for her husband's accident, Perry protested, "But how could she possibly—"

His lean, strong surgeon's hands tightened about the thin stem of his crystal water goblet and his jaw hardened a little.

"Phil is—was—a superb horseman," he said very slowly. "He learned to ride almost before he learned to walk. Sanna was just learning to ride. Phil had given her a gentle horse—he had teased her and said Moonbeam was gentle and as easy to handle as a child's hobby-horse. Well, somehow Sanna lost control of Moonbeam, who collided with Starlight, Phil's mount; and Starlight, high-strung and nervous as most thoroughbreds are, ran away, hurling Phil into a tree and injuring his spine. Sanna feels that if she had been a better horsewoman, it need never have happened. You see?"

Perry nodded soberly. "Of course, but it's something that could have happened to anybody. It couldn't possibly be held against her."

She had the oddest sort of feeling that he was intensely relieved; that her answer, sincere and honest and warmly spoken, had brought a release from an unpleasant tension. She couldn't understand why she felt that way.

Dr. McKenzie stood up after a moment and said crisply, "Well, you'll be here for a month, anyway. My hours at the clinic are nine to eleven and three to five. Should you ever have occasion to get in touch with me, just call the clinic at the hospital and they'll find me. I'll take you down some day—you'll be interested. A sort of busman's holiday!"

He smiled at her and went striding out. Long after he had gone, she stood looking out of the window at the breathtaking panorama of mountains and the valley. She felt warm and happy, and as she went upstairs to her patient, she told herself firmly that the reason for that warm happiness was simply that she was going to stay on this job, not because of anything that could ever be between her and Dr. McKenzie. The fact that he had apparently abandoned his hostility towards her had nothing to do with that warm, contented feeling. It certainly had not, she assured herself, without realizing that the necessity of such reassurance was in itself convincing.

After the first few days, Perry settled into the routine and found it very pleasant. Philip Ellender was an easy patient to care for; and Hayden, devoted to his master, unobtrusively insisted on taking over the heavier duties. She found that preparing his diet, giving him an occasional alcohol rub, administering his medicine on schedule, and the very occasional hypo that he would accept when the pain got beyond endurance, constituted her task. She read the morning papers to him, and his favorite books. As nursing jobs went, it was a sinecure; but she was conscious and anxious to do everything possible to make Philip as nearly comfortable as medical skill and science could manage.

She was off duty from two until five every afternoon, and now that the weather had turned clear and fair, though crisp and cold, walking was a very pleasant form of exercise. Sanna had insisted that Perry make use of her own coupe any time she wanted to go to the nearby town, which was three miles away. And so one afternoon when she had been at Pinelands more than a week, Perry had Sanna's coupe brought around and, armed with a list of her own and some errands for Sanna, she drove into the small town.

She parked the coupe near the shopping center and got out. As she locked the door, a gay, cheerful voice spoke over her shoulder.

"Miss Kimbro, of course. Welcome to our city," said the voice, and Perry turned to face a short, rather plump red-haired girl, with blue eyes, freckles, and a saucily tip-tilted nose. The girl wore the uniform of a country nurse, and Perry smiled warmly at her. "I'm Sally Stewart, with the County Health Department."

"But how in the world did you know me?" asked Perry as they shook hands.

Sally laughed. "Elementary, my dear Watson! It's too early in the season for our annual crop of tourists, and you're a stranger in town, and the only stranger known to be in town is that that nurse-gal out to Pinelands; and besides, you're driving the lovely Sanna's coupe. See how easy it was?"

Perry found herself liking the friendly, good-humored girl at first sight.

"Come and have a drink," said Sally hospitably and then laughed. "But rid your mind instantly of the thought of old-fashioned or martinis and such. Pinelville doesn't do that."

"I'm not hinting! I said that was no accident!" Sally was almost violent about it. "Look, I have known Phil Ellender since I was five. He was practically born on horseback. The horse that can throw Phil Ellender hasn't yet been foaled! He's—well, he was like a part of the horse. Like those centaurs of ancient mythology."

"Yet he was thrown and he was helplessly, hopelessly crippled," Perry told her swiftly, defiantly.

Sally looked down at her coffee and stirred it absently.

"So they say," she commented at last.

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—By enormous civic co-operation, aided ever so slightly by a rainy May and June, this odd community apparently has gotten over the hump of the water shortage. Once more the industrious are permitted to wash their cars, thus removing the last solid excuse from the slothful, and housewives are, if they feel so inclined, free to rinse each knife and fork in a separate basin full of aqua pura.

When we were struggling through the arid spell a few months back, I scurried around like a veritable ferret, as contrasted with a common or garden-variety ferret, unearthing all kinds of terribly interesting facts about the water system of the city of New York. Even with the shortage over, it seems a shame not to put this data to some use, he said, and she said yes doesn't it, and he said I will put it to some use.

Actually, the water supply system we use today had its beginnings back in 1776. The city had just earmarked 11,400 pounds—we were still dealing with that English stage money—as "water works money."

However, just when plans were being drawn, the city treasurer, either out of misguided loyalty or an unlucky gambler's instinct for betting against the dice, decided to join the British army, at the start of the Revolution. The 11,400 pounds apparently went with him.

Somewhat strapped for cash money after the war, the municipality depended on fresh-water wells, a pump and a 20,000-hogshead-capacity reservoir for its supply of city gin.

The reservoir was in what is now downtown Manhattan, between Pearl and White streets east of Broadway, and the water for it came from the fresh-water wells and partly from a miniature lake called Collect Pond. Collect Pond was 70 acres in size and many years later, when it was dried up, it became the site of the old Tombs prison.

COLLECT POND, UNFORTUNATELY, was far from ideal. There was a slaughter house, a tannery and a handful of broken-down houses nearby, and possibly because of these, the water slowly became contaminated. Maybe, on the other hand, it was more than those influences.

It appears that the majority of downtown New Yorkers washed their clothes in Collect Pond. As a matter of fact, it wasn't named Collect Pond for nothing; any superfluous household item, such as a dead cat or dog, ultimately found its way into the drink. It wasn't long before it was called "Collick Pond."

For a while the only water fit to drink in New York was from a privately-owned "Tea Water Pump," on Chatham street, and it cost the citizenry a penny a gallon. Finally, however, something drastic had to be done, and in 1837 work was started on the first huge municipal water supply system. Croton lake and the Croton river, up in Westchester, was the source of supply, and five years later the project was finished.

A seven-mile parade celebrated the turning-on of the water, a demonstration that almost paralleled the enthusiasm shown in town some time later when the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States was junked. There were 300,000 persons in New York in those days, and it seemed as if they all loved water.

SINCE THAT TIME, THE SUPPLY SYSTEM has mushroomed with the population, so that now, for something less than 8,000,000 New Yorkers there exists a water supply system valued roughly at 775 million dollars. It furnishes more than a million gallons of water each day, not counting dry Thursdays, when we saved our breakfast dishes and washed them together with the dinner dishes at night.

Except for three privately-owned water companies, which handle a part of the Brooklyn and Queens supply, this system takes care of all New York. The reservoirs and tunnels in the system are spread over a 125-mile radius, and the last item to be added to it was the Schoharie reservoir, 26 years ago.

How the water reaches here is absorbing. A 14-foot tunnel comes down from the Catskills, dips 1,114 feet below sea level at a point below the Hudson river near Storm King mountain, and ends up at Hillview reservoir, near the old Empire City racetrack, now the sinful haunt of trotting horses.

From Hillview, it goes through solid rock for 18 miles to the five boroughs. When it finally arrives, it serves countless purposes, perhaps the most useful being to dilute Scotch whisky.

Try, Stop Me

One of Heywood Brown's pet hates was ghost-written political speeches — particularly when they failed utterly to reflect either the convictions or the personalities of the big shots who were delivering them. Warren G. Harding pulled one of these phony orations at a newsmen's banquet shortly after he had assumed the presidency—a pompous, cliché-laden address that sounded more like a circus press-agent than a president of the United States. There was some polite applause as Harding resumed his seat. Then Brown jumped up and cried, "Author! Author!"

Bob Considine and his popular wife Mildred were off for one of the innumerable parties they attend. At the door Mrs. C. embraced one of her young hope-

New Type Fluoroscope Is Hailed

Better X-Ray Work Now Anticipated

CHICAGO, Sept. 20—A University of Chicago scientist has unveiled an improved fluoroscope hailed as an important weapon in the battle against cancer and revealed that he got the idea for it during a casual luncheon conversation about television several years ago.

Inventor of the fluoroscope is Dr. Robert J. Moon, assistant professor of physics in the U. of C.'s institute on radiobiology and biophysics.

Moon said his fluoroscope produces x-ray images so bright that it will permit for the first time mass examinations for cancer of the stomach and lower intestine.

He said the image produced on his fluoroscope is several hundred times as bright as that in previous machines.

Other scientists noted that Moon has solved a problem which plagued radiologists since Roentgen discovered the x-ray.

HERETOFORE x-rays have been unsatisfactory in detecting cancers deep in the body, especially in areas where there is a good deal of soft tissue, because the image was not bright enough to allow differentiation between the cancerous and normal tissue.

To get a brighter picture, radiologists had to concentrate dangerously large amounts of x-rays on the site.

The method Moon used to construct his fluoroscope employed a finely focused beam of electrons—supplied by a television-type electron gun.

The beam scans a target of tantalum foil. Some of the electrons are transformed by this process into x-rays and about one of every 10,000 of these pass through the foil. A very tiny hole in the foil focuses them on the object to be x-rayed.

When the rays pass through this object, they slam into a four-inch diameter, one-inch thick calcium fluoride crystal. This transforms them again—this time into bursts of ultraviolet rays, tremendously stepping up the strength of the signal.

The signal, finally, is projected to a viewing tube almost exactly like the one used in television sets.

Benevolent Unit Details Work For 3 Months

More than 560 articles were handed out to needy Circleville families during June, July and August by the Circleville Benevolent Association.

According to a quarterly report from Social Worker Florence Renick, a total of 81 families benefitted in the program.

The supplies were donated by a total of 50 persons and included such things as bedding, clothing and magazines.

In addition to its giving program, the association made 36 home calls, interviewed 116 applicants and eight "interest of client" calls.

TV-Radio Programs

Programs listed in the following television log contain errors daily, the fault resting entirely with broadcasters and not with The Herald. Intent of this newspaper is to provide accurate information for subscribers, but finds this impossible so far as the three Columbus television stations are concerned. The programs printed are assembled from information sent out by the Columbus stations and are not to be regarded seriously. Complaints about inaccuracies in program listings should be made to the broadcasting stations and not to The Herald. Because of continuing inaccuracies, The Herald has been forced to delete all TV programs prior to 6 p. m. Radio programs are evening network listings.

Elinor Williams' Teen Tips

Teen Tips

"You are what you eat," says an old proverb. And 'tis a fact that the food you eat can help to clear pimply or oily skin, making your complexion, hair and figure more attractive—as well as building good health (you can't have fun without it).

The trick is to choose between-meal snacks that have the proteins, vitamins and calcium that your body needs—a matter of quality instead of quantity.

Instead of munching potato chips while you read, eat carrot sticks. Sliced thin and crisped in a glass of cold water in the refrigerator, they're good enough to please almost any nibbler.

When you're thirsty—or visiting the corner soda shop with the "crowd" choose fruit drinks. These are good at home, too, and the new frozen concentrates make them easy to prepare.

If you really want to improve your complexion and resolve to steer clear of sweets until it's clear and smooth, try raisins and other fruits, dried or fresh, for energy-supplying snacks.

When the gang comes over for after-swimming eats and canasta, surprise them with cottage cheese and crackers instead of cookies and cake. This cheese combines well with crackers for a good, healthful snack. Ever tried it? Dress it up with bits of green pepper or pickles, if you like. Chop the pickles and mix them with the cheese. This also serves as dessert—and so does fruit.

For free knitting directions for easy-to-make knitted socks, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.

34 Delinquents Named On City Sewer Bill List

Circleville city council Tuesday ordered a list of delinquent customers of the sewage disposal department sent to Pickaway County auditor for collection.

The list contained 34 names owing a total of $243.89 in unpaid sewage bills. Sums owed will be placed on tax duplicates for collection.

Ervin Leist, sewage department manager, told council that many of the names on the list had appeared on a similar list submitted last year.

He pointed out, however, that the total sum owed is less than during the early years of the department when totals ran from $400 to $500.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By SENATOR ROBERT A. TAFT

The Korean War has made it clear to our people that the power of Communist Russia is the most serious threat to the liberty and security of the American people which we have ever faced. It is greater than that of Hitler because of the tremendous development of the capacity of air power and the possession by Russia of the atomic bomb.

Communism has always been a threat to the American people but the present military strength of Russia is largely the result of the foreign policy of the Roosevelt and Truman administrations.

Influenced by Communists in the government and the Communist sympathy of men like Henry Wallace and Harry Hopkins, the administration adopted the strange theory that Russia was a "peace-loving democracy." It blindly accepted the promises of Stalin who had never kept a promise.

It accepted his promise that he would set up free governments in Poland and the Balkans, reserving no means to enforce those promises. It conceded his sphere of influence in Eastern Germany, Czechoslovakia and Austria. It withdrew our troops in accordance with our Yalta promises, although we could have captured Berlin and Prague before the Russians arrived.

IT WAS THIS Administration, therefore, which at Yalta and Potsdam placed Russia in a dominating position in Central Europe from which they can successfully threaten the liberty of Western Europe and of the United States.

This sympathy for Communism did not represent the views of many of us, or of the American people. I quote from a broadcast which I myself made in June, 1941, regarding lend-lease to Russia:

"How can anyone swallow the idea that Russia is battling for democratic principles? — To spread the Four Freedoms throughout the world we will ship airplanes and tanks and guns to Communist Russia. But no country was more responsible for the present war and Germany's aggression than Russia itself. Except for the Russian pact with Germany there would have been no invasion of Poland. Russia proved to be as much of an aggressor as Germany. If through our aid Stalin is continued in power, do you suppose that he will spread the Four Freedoms through Finland, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania? Do you suppose that anybody in Russia itself will ever hear of the Four Freedoms after the war?"

Eager Beavers Planning Booth

Eager Beavers Club of Pickaway County Children's Home are planning a more elaborate booth for this year's Pumpkin Show.

Winfield Koch, superintendent of the Home, said that this year's booth will boast not only a new coffee urn, but a steam table as well.

The booth, staffed by children from the Home, sells pies, soups, lunches and coffee to Pumpkin Show visitors.

The booth will be located at the corner of Pinckney and Court streets.

Forgotten Claim Is Recalled To City Fathers

An 11-year-old damage claim against Circleville was brought to the attention of city council Tuesday night by City Solicitor George Gerhardt.

The solicitor said he had been contacted by attorneys representing Francis Mauger who filed a claim against the city for an auto accident in 1939.

According to City Service Director John Neuding, a member of council in that year, the accident took place during a storm when Mauger crashed into a barricade on Watt street.

Neuding told council that as near as he could remember Mauger claimed there had been

Airplane Tests

DAYTON, Sept. 20—Air Materiel Command engineers here said today that television cameras are scheduled to replace pilots in hazardous flight tests
while the pilots operate remote
controls from the ground.

The system will enable engineers to get performance data never before obtainable because there will be no human lives at stake. The pilot on the ground will be able to send a supersonic plane through gravity-defying gyrations, testing the craft to its limit at critical speeds and stresses.

Radio waves from the ground
control the plane being tested, while one or two video cameras are scheduled to replace pi-
lots in hazardous flight tests
while the pilots operate remote
controls from the ground.

At the present, officers said
two war-surplus F-24s are being tested with the new system. So far, they said, tests indicate the use of TV to replace test pilots on dangerous flights is entirely practical.

Little Brown Jug Is Top Test For Pacers In U.S.

DELAWARE, Sept. 20 — The Little Brown Jug, three-year-old pacing classic of light harness racing, held annually over the half mile track here and sponsored by the Little Brown Jug Society, has in the last few years elevated itself to a point of prime importance in sulky circles.

It is no longer considered the counter part of the famed Hambletonian for three-year-old trotters but rather a companion feature of the Goshen race on the yearly calendar of harness highlights.

In four years the Little Brown Jug has developed into one of the richest stakes on the sulky itinerary. This year the total purse, according to Jug officials, will exceed $60,000 for an all-time high in its short but eventful history.

A trip to the winner's circle in the Jug is the goal of all owners of three-year-old hobbler wearers—it is the top laurel wreath in the field and class. It can rightfully be called the Kentucky Derby for juvenile sidewheelers. The race derived its name from a famous pacing champion campaigning at the turn of the century.

IT WAS SELECTED via the contest route, the winner being an Ohio clergyman who felt it fitting and proper to embellish the Tennessee bred pacer who for years traveled the Ohio circuit.

There is no connection whatever between the Buckeye junior pacing event and the well known football series of Michigan and Minnesota.

This year's Jug, to be raced tomorrow, will be the fifth since the event was introduced in the Fall of 1946 after two scheduled previews.

Post time for the 1950 version of the lucrative contest will find a widely varied opinion on favorites and marks the first time that the eventful day has been reached without an outstanding betting choice on the part of the betting public.

Quilla Hanover, a classy lass owned by Cleo Young, Timmonsville, S. C., will attract wide attention when the search for favorites is launched.

But this filly by Billy Direct-Nervola Hanover will have a hard time luring supporters away from Irish Hal, a fast going youngster in the stable of K. D. Owen, Houston, Texas, sportsman and Dudley Hanover, a Hayes Fair Acre star by Billy Direct-Vivian Hanover.

Along with these top line performers Mighty Sun, a glib going pacer racing under the colors of C and C Ranch, Shafter, Calif., sired by Volomite and out of Margaret Castleton will have his share of supporters.

Chief Long, an Ohio owned side wheeler campaigning under the ownership of O. C. Adelman of Mt. Vernon, could very easily be the first Ohio owned horse to capture Jug honors.

Castleton Farm of Lexington cannot be counted out of a chance at victory with Seattle Hanover, a fleet son of Nibble Hanover-Sorcerer. In fact his chance of returning the Blue Grass farm its second winner in the classic is not to be discounted in the least. Ensign Hanover, winner of the inaugural Jug, was a Castleton prodigy.

A SMALL BUT impressive field of three-year-old trotters go to the post today in the $6,000 Old Oaken Bucket feature of the Grand Circuit.

Lusty Song, Full Force, Mighty Express and Poplar Parry will provide the action in the Bucket feature.

Mighty Fine goes to the post as the favorite in the Delaware Gazette two-year-old trot. Ten of the nation's top juveniles are entered with Mighty Fine.

Solicitor and Tar Heel, the one-two punch of the Reynolds Tobacco Stable, finished one-two in both heats of yesterday's featured BPOE two-year-old pace for a purse of $5,000.

Reined by Del Miller, Solicitor knocked off one fifth of a second from previous best times of the season by baby sidewheelers on a half mile track.

Solicitor rounded the oval with 2:05 2-5 in the first heat and 2:04 2-5 in the second.

Widower Cyrus polished off the 19 Class pace in 2:05 1-5 and 2:05 2-5.

Prince Phillip, State Racing Commission Chairman O. C. Belt's entry, was an easy winner in the Ohio Breeders two-year-old trot.

Ohio Entry Wins Feature

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 20—Thomas B. Scott scored his eighth win of the year last night at Roosevelt Raceway, crossing the wire a nose in front of Make Way in 2:06, as Tokyo Express placed third.

Owned and driven by Tom Carlock of Greenville, Ohio, the four-year-old brown horse took the lead at the start, relinquished it briefly to Tokyo Express, and then was urged home under a strong drive.

American League Pennant Race Tightest Since 1908 Scramble

NEW YORK, Sept. 20—Gather 'round children and you shall hear about the zaniest American League pennant race in 42 years.

In case you are wondering if anything can top last season's pulse raiser that ended on the final day—ease up. This 1950 thing may be the same, but with three teams, no less.

Statistically, the New York Yankees are in first place today, one half game to the good. Boston and Detroit are tied for second.

One has to go way back to 1908 to find an equal. In that year, Detroit, Cleveland and Chicago went down to the last day with the Tigers finally prevailing.

The Yankees blew a 4 to 3 decision last night to the White Sox and Lefty Bob Cain, and it may mean more than just another critical loss to the Bombers. This one could very well cost the flag.

Vic Raschi, their 20-game winner had gone six innings and was ahead, 3 to 2, on the strength of a solo homer by Joe DiMaggio (No. 31) and one with one aboard by Yogi Berra.

THEN RASCHI complained of soreness in his pitching arm. He apparently had aggravated a condition in his elbow sustained in July. The big righthander was replaced by Tom Ferrick, who promptly yielded the game-deciding runs.

Boston's game with Cleveland was rained out and the Tigers took advantage of this and tied the Sox for second by walloping the Philadelphia Athletics, 12 to 4.

Washington stopped St. Louis, 5 to 3, in a night game.

Chicago Cub Righthander Frank Hiller had it all over the pennant-bound Philadelphia Phillies. The 30-year-old hurler limited the Whiz Kids to two hits, faced a minimum of 27 men and beat Robin Roberts, 1 to 0.

Hank Sauer's 30th homer in the fifth inning, one of four hits off Roberts, was the clincher.

Boston's Braves managed to keep second place despite Johnny Sain's failure to win his twentieth. The Braves scored two runs in the ninth inning to nose out the hapless St. Louis Cardinals, 8 to 7.

Brooklyn swept the Pirates, 14 to 3 and 3 to 2. Gil Hodges and Duke Snider each hit two homers in the first game as Don Newcombe registered his 18th win. Ralph Kiner poled numbers 44 and 45 in this contest.

Erv Palica won the second game on circuit wallops by Ed Miksis and Tommy Brown in the first inning. Each of Hodges' first game smacks came with two on and he now has 28. Snider's two wallops raised his total to 29. The New York-Cincinnati game was rained out.

Dallas Eagles Not For Sale

DALLAS, Sept. 20—Millionaire Oilman R. W. Burnett has removed the "for sale" sign from his Dallas Eagle baseball team and said he will continue to operate his Texas League franchise.

Burnett put the team up for sale last Wednesday after he was fined $500 by Minor League Commissioner George Trautman as punishment for an argument with an umpire.

The oilman said his latest move was in answer to "malicious" rumors that said he was selling the team at the suggestion of Trautman.

Election Officials Cite Rules For Absentee Voters

Ballots Due In Another Ten Days

Rules For GIs Are Outlined

Although ballots will not be ready for about 10 days, Pickaway County board of elections has issued instructions for getting them to absentee and disabled voters.

Death of Ohio Supreme Court Judge Edward C. Turner caused a delay in the certification of ballots by the secretary of state. The time was required for party officials to find candidates to run for the office.

To obtain an absentee ballot the voter must apply for an application blank. No particular form or wording is required. It may be by letter or postcard. But it must be signed.

After this preliminary application has been received by the board of elections, a formal application blank is returned to the voter.

The application for an absent voter's ballot for a person in the armed forces can be filled out for the serviceman by spouse, parent, grandparent, foster parent, brother, sister, stepchildren, uncle, aunt, nephew or niece.

AFTER THIS application has been filed with the board, the ballot is sent to the serviceman together with an envelope on which a list of questions are printed. The questions must be answered under oath by the soldier in the presence of an authorized commissioned or non-commissioned officer.

Soldier ballots can be returned on election day.

For non-military absentees the applications for ballots must be notarized. The ballots must be returned to the election board clerk by noon of the fourth day before the election. This year the election will be on Nov. 7.

Board officials said that in order to qualify as an absentee the voter must be 10 miles or more away from his voting precinct on election day, and he must have resided in the state one year and in his precinct 40 days.

Deadline for presentation of both absentee and disabled voters applications for ballots is

40 Pickaway Farmers Are Listed As Using Conservation Service

Forty Pickaway County farmers this year asked the U. S. Soil Conservation Service for technical assistance with farm problems.

According to J. A. Muster, local SCS conservationist, 35 farmers have been helped in the development of complete farm conservation plans.

"We believe," said Muster, "that by working with neighbor groups we can make faster progress in the future. Additional groups have been organized in Perry, Pickaway, Jackson and Madison and Scioto Townships and probable groups appear in Walnut Townships."

Over a six-month period, Muster went on, 2,100 Ohio farmers have asked SCS for technical assistance.

HE QUOTED T. C. Kennard, state conservationist, as saying there has been an increase in public interest, which has been reflected in greater demands upon SCS technical assistance. He added:

"Naturally, with field technicians we have available, it is impossible to keep up with the demand. However, we will get to these new district cooperators as rapidly as possible."

Kennard's report showed the farmers who applied for technical assistance during the first half of the year operate 282,000 acres of land.

They bring the total of Ohio farmers who have asked for SCS technical aid since the soil conservation program began up to 22,100. These district cooperators operate 3,152,000 acres.

During the first half of the year SCS technicians were able to help 1,650 farmers complete farm conservation plans which fell 450 short of the new applications coming in during the same period.

Train Whistles Draw Attention Of Councilmen

Circleville city council may do something about trains whistling through the city.

At least, the solons are going to find out what effect passage of ordinance forbidding the noise has had in another town.

The matter was brought up by Councilman Ray Anderson, who said he had been informed that several cities have passed laws forbidding trains to whistle within the corporation limits. Warnings at crossings are provided by wigwag signals.

He said Grandview was one of the cities where such a law is in effect.

City Solicitor George Gerhardt was instructed to write to the Grandview clerk of city council to find out how effective the law has been and to obtain a copy of the ordinance.

6:30 p. m. of the fifth day before the election.

For all voters the board of elections pointed out that there is no registration in Pickaway County. All that is required is that the voter present himself at the polls on election day.

Max Spangler Named District FFA Chieftain

Max Spangler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Spangler of near Ashville, has been elected district president of Future Farmers of America. The election was part of the officers training meeting held at Canal Winchester school recently.

Each Fall, District Nine FFA officers are elected. District Nine includes 29 FFA chapters, located in Fairfield, Licking, Perry, Franklin, Madison and Pickaway Counties. The group numbers approximately 700 FFA boys.

Max is also president of his local chapter and vice-president of his junior class.

Future Farmers carrying farming programs made up of livestock and crop projects will give them a start in farming.

Max is busy in this area also. His farming program as a junior will be a registered Chester White sow and two litters, a registered beef heifer, 20 acres of hybrid corn and 10 acres of certified wheat.

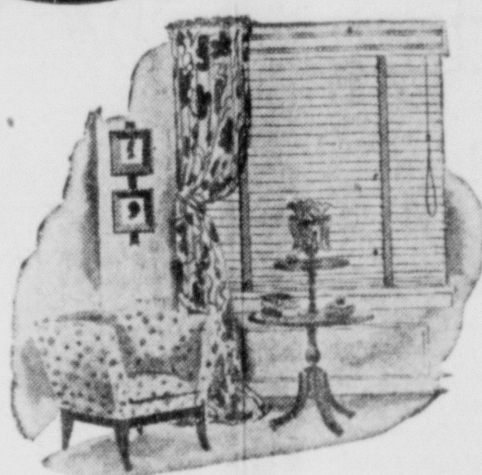

Max and his brother, Marvin, are planning to rent corn ground on a neighboring farm.

Max hopes to attain the degree of "State Farmer" next year. Only two Future Farmers out of every 100 can get this degree.

4-Way Stop Street Test Is Ordered

Circleville city fathers think they may have a relatively inexpensive solution to the problem of controlling traffic at intersections.

The solution grew out of a request by Councilman Walden Reichelderfer for a traffic light at the intersection of Scioto and Mill streets.

In the discussion that followed it developed that council thinks: 1. The city has too many traffic lights already. 2. More traffic lights would cost the city too much—$250 each plus another $250 to install another control panel for synchronization.

The solution was provided by City Solicitor George Gerhardt who suggested that stop signs be erected at each corner of the intersection so that all traffic would have to stop, look and listen before entering. Council waxed enthusiastic over the idea, instructed Gerhardt to draw up an ordinance for installation of the stop signs at Scioto and Mill streets. "If it works there," said Reichelderfer, "we can get some for other intersections."
